WARMED THE HORSE.

New Jersey Man's Novel Treat ment of a Sick Animal.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Pouring kerosene oil over a sick horse, setting fire to it and standing by to make sure that it burned to death, are the outlines of the charge on which Weiner Heulsen of Newark, N. J., was arrested last night, Jacob Woits told Heulsen that his borse was all. He avamined the horse and sent for ill. "He examined the horse and sent for a can of kerosene. This he placed on the horses' back. "The horse has collc," he said, "and nothing will cure him but heat. I am going to warm hims" The animal was tied to a heavy post in the stable-yard and Heulsen set fire to the oil. It blazed up at once and the rse was soon roaring and plunging in the greatest agony. Heuisen stood by with folded arms and smiled. Wolf meanwhile ran up and down shouting that Heuisen was killing his horse. Heuisen ordered some blankets brought out in or-der to put out the fire. The horse fell, however, in the death agonies and in a nutes expired. been burned in its back.

VALUABLE QUARRIES.

A Suit to Include Michigan Property Among Certain Assets.

ted Press Leased-wire Service MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2.—A. K. Hamilton, assignee of the Hatfield Company, has commenced action against the Menominee Falls Stone Company, and the Menominee Falls Quarry Company, to compel them to deliver their property to him, the claim being made that the quar-ries in Waukesha county, owned by these companies, property belong in the assets of the Hatfield Company, and that they were fraudulently conveyed to the cor-porations named.

The value of the quarries is placed at $100,000, and the plaintiff in the suit declares that after the Hatfield Company had expended $79,500 in developing them, and before the assignment, on February 1, 1890, it was incorporated, and that the Hatfields were the stockholders of the company, thus defrauding the creditors of the Hatfield Company, as the stone quarry property was not scheduled among the assets of that company, as it is claimed it should have been.

Manifesto by New Czar.

The Welfare of Russia is His Legacy.

Grand Duke George Succeeds as Czar-owitch Until an Heir is Bern.

British Press Comment — Scenes in Paris and Berlin—Mr. Cleve-land Receives a Personal Message.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The following is the text of the manifesto issued by Czar Nicholas II, and published this morning in the Official Messenger:

"We hereby announce to all our faithful subjects that God in His inscrutable providence has see fit to assign a limit to the precious life of our dearly-loved imperial ather. His grievous sufferings yielding neither to medical skill nor the climate of the Crimea, he died at Lividia on the 20 of October (November 1) surrounded by his family and in the arms is not to be expressed by words, but this grief every Russian heart will under-stand, and I believe there is not a spot which hot tears will not flow for the Em peror, thus prematurely called away, who has parted from the country which he loved with all the power of a Russian soul, and in the welfare of which, sparing neither health nor life, he centered all his thoughts. But also far beyond the borders of Russia the memory of the Czar. who was the incarnation of unswerving loyalty and peace, which, during his reign, was not once broken, will not cease to be respected. The will of the Most High be done.

to be respected. The will of the Most High be done.

"May our unshaken faith in the wisdom of Providence give us strength; may the knowledge console us that our grief is the grief of our entire beloved nation, and may the mation not forget that the strength and farmers of noly Russia Hes in its unity and unsounded devotion to us. In this sad, solemn hour, in which we ascend our ancestral throne of the Russian empire and Czardom of Poland and the Grand Dutchy of Finland, indissolubly linked with it, we, however, remember the legacy left to us by our lamented father, and, imbued with it, we, in the presence of the Most High, take a sacred vow to make our sole aim the peaceful development of the power and the glory of our beloved Russia and the happiness of all our faithful subjects.

"May the Almighty who has chosen us for this high calling vouchsafe to us His aid. While we offer before the throne of the Almighty Ruler our heartfelt praise for the unstained soul of the departed, we command our subjects to take the oath of allegiance to ourselves and our successor, the Grand Duke Alexandrovitch, who will bear the title of Crown Prince and Czarowitch until it shall please God to bless our approaching union with the

"NICHOLAS." ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—At 9 o'clock this morning imperial heralds in bright uniform, attended by a troop of trumpeters, announced the death of Alexander III, and the accession to the throne of Nicholas II. Throughout St. Petersburg today, the accession of the new Czar is being celebrated as a festival, for this event takes precedence over mourning ceremonies. All signs of p lic mourning will be withheld until

At 10 o'clock yesterday evening the first requiem mass for the repose of the soul of Alexander III was celebrated at St. Priersburg, and all the ministers and bers of the Council of the empire were present. Those in attendance took the oath of allegiance to Czar Nicholas II and the heir presumptive, Grand Duke George. This morning the Senate met, and all members took the oath of allegi-George. This morning the Senate met and all members took the oath of allegi ance. At the same time all troops form ing the garrison of St. Petersburg were paraded, and were sworn with the customary formality. Later the same cerem was observed among the civil servants of the empire. THE REMAINS EMBALMED.

THE REMAINS EMBALMED.

LIVIDIA, Nov. 2.—The remains of Alexander III. having been embalmed and attired in the uniform of the Preobrajensky Regiment, they were conveyed this morning to the small private chapel of the palace. The bier was surrounded with lighted candles and is watched by relays of priests and officers of the army. At the religious services afterward held in the chapel all members of the imperial family and imperial household were present. The officiating priest chanted an expressive litany. The ceremony was most imposing.

THEY TURNED TO THE CHURCHES.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—When the news of the Czar's death was received thousands of the people left their work said proceeded to the churches in the neighborhood, where divine services were held in memory of His Majesty. Dense masses of people thronged the streets during the evening, reading the death bulletin, and murinuring prayers for the Czar as they crossed themselves. It is reported that the funeral will take place on November 15, and it is east that his body will lie in state for one week at Moscow.

THE SITUATION IN NEW YORK.

Tammany is on the box.

"It is universally known, and not contradicted, that the stampede in the Democratic State convention which thrust the nomination on Hill was planned and ocratic State convention which thrust the nomination on Hill was planned and managed by Tammany, and that Hill had been nominated and virtually accepted and found himself harnessed to the Tammany cart ere he had time to rub his eyes. That this sly fox would be caught by surprise may seem ludicrous. But it is more than a joke. It is the revenge of fate; it is the sin of the evildoer coming home to roost; it is the devil claiming his own. So often had Hill ridden into places of power on the back of Tammany and the State machinery that Tammany and its allies have a right to jump on his back and say: 'Now we will ride you for our salvation; we have done your work, now you do ours.'"—[From the Speech of Carl Schurz in Cooper Union, Oct. 29.

THE LAST HOURS.

LONDON, Nov. 2:—A special dispatch from Lividia says that at 1 o'clock resterday morning the Csar expressed a wish to see the Csarowitch, and for several minutes conversed with him in low, earnest tones, while the attendants withdrew. The Czarowitch replied in a few words and bent down and kissed his father's fips. Then the Emperor asked all the children to come to his side. In a weak, but perfectly audible voice, the dying man addressed his children, and then, taking. addressed his children, and then, taking the hand of the Empress, he, for the first time since his illness, showed signs of deep emotion. After this the Czar seemed somewhat more cheerful, and frequently somewhat more cheerful, and frequently addressed words of comfort to the Em-press, who had not left his side.

Toward 2 o'clock His Majesty's breath Toward 2 o'clock His Majesty's breath-ing became more labored, and a violent fit of coughing brought on a slight hem-orrhage. This was followed by faintness. When this had partially passed away, the Czar turned to speak once more to his family, but the Empress, who was sup-porting him, could not hear the words, and almost immediately afterward he sighed deeply and ceased to breathe. His end was most peaceful.

EXPRESSIONS OF BRITISH SYMPATHY LONDON, Nov. 2.—The expressions of Flags are half-masted everywhere in London and in the large cities of the United Kingdom. Special religious serv-ices are being arranged at Buckingham Palace, Marlborough, and at all residence of the royal family. Queen Victoria is profoundly affected, and has issued the necessary instructions for the court to go into mourning for the usual period.

A requiem mass for the repose of the soul of the late Czar was held in the Russian Church in this city today. Russian Ambassador, M. de Staal, and the staff of the embassy, representatives of nearly all the foreign diplomatic corps, and a large number of hadies were present.

Queen Victoria, in addition to the official dispatch of sympathy sent to the imcial dispatch of sympathy sent to the im perial family of Russia, forwarded a priv ate message of sympathy to the Czarina PARIS IN MOURNING.

PARIS, Nov. 2.-The Figaro demand PARIS, Nov. 2.—The Figare demands that Gen. Saussier, as the general in command of the garrison at Paris, and as chief of the headquarters staff, be sent to represent the French army, at the funeral of the Cgar. In all of the provincial cities of France the scenes witnessed in Paris, the same display of mourning emblems and the same profound manifestations of grief are recorded. All the newspapers appear with black bor-ders, and all of them express grief at the death of the Russian Emperor.

The Journal des Debats recalls the great

The Journal des Debats recaus the great qualities of the Emperor, who did not fear to ally the Russian empire with the democratic republic, adding: "The exper-iment was conclusive, and peace never seemed better assured than now: We hope that nothing will be changed."

The Matin says: "In the mourning which the French and Russian patri are plunged, one consolation remains. It is that the work which Alexander III founded will be continued by the new Czar, who furnishes an example of fillal Negroes Thought to be Killing Their Children for Insurance. ted Press Leased-wire Service.

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn...) Nov. 2 .- It is believed by the Tennessee State Health Board that the horrible practice of murdering infants for insurance taken them is rapidly growing among the lower classes of negroes and an investigation is now in progress, which promises to dis-close a shocking condition of affairs. For a long time the board has been clo watching the movements of cinsurance companies who make a bu certain watching the movements of certain insurance companies who make a business of selling risks on the lives of infants and very young children, and they have found that the practice has become so general that it demands immediate investigation and correction.

As the rates on this class of life insurance are very cheap, a large business has been done even among the poorer classes and it is thought that a number of child-murders have been the result, but because of the difficulty of obtaining evidence no specific facts have been adduced. The committee which was appointed to look into the matter has just made its report to the Board of Health, containing such startling information that the board has seen fit to address a circular letter to every city physician in every city in the State, asking for a personal investigation upon their part.

City Physician Holland of Chattanooga said that, during the past few months many suspicious deaths have occurred among the infants of the lower class of negrees and for various reasons he was confident that the children had been murdered for the insurance money.

fillard at San Diego—The Strauss Family's Influence in New York. Ex-President Harrison a Center of Attraction

washington, Nov. 2.—Senator Fault er, chairman of the Democratic Congress ampaign Committee, today made a state-ent with reference to his recent can be the President, at which the political astion was talked over.

As chairman of the Congress CommitI called upon the President. During interview I conveyed to him all the commation I had in reference to the try and the prospects of the Democratic was confined to the outlook in the pending Congressional elections, and I and the President, as always in previous versations involving the Democratic ty, manifesting the deepest concern in the information I communicated to him, and in the hopes I expressed for our suc-cess in maintaining a Democratic majority and in the hopes I expressed for our success in maintaining a Democratic majority in the Fifty-fourth Congress.

"He impressed me in that interview as having the same earnest and sincere interest in the result of the election which has always characterized his utterances in the interest of Democratic principles when they were on trial before the people of this country. He clearly indicated that he was attisfied with the direction given the campaign by the Congressional Committee in earnessity and intelligently bringing before the voters the results of the Democratic action in the endeavor of Congress to redeem Democratic pledges.

"Of course the tariff law as passed is not in accordance with his views of the pledges of the party in its declaration at Chicago, but as he has already stated, what has been done will certain lighten many tariff burdens that now rest heavily upon the people, and he seemed to fully approve the course of the committee in drawing the contrast between the onerous and burdensome actions of the McKinley bill and the reductions made by the existing laws: approving fully the presentation by the committee, as shown in its eampaign book, as well in its other literature, of the differences in the condition of the treasury under his former administration and that of Mr. Harrison, and the deplorable condition of the treasury when turned over to him by his predecessor.

"You can rest assured I express my homest judgment when I say that from my conversation with the President no man takes a deeper interest in the success of the Democratic party in the present campaign and the anxiety of the committee to return a majority to the Fifty-fourth Congress than President Cleveland.

ALBANY GOES WILLD OVER GEN. HARRISON.

ALBANY (N. Y.,) Nov. 2—Five thousand people jostled and pushed and defied the police in such a manner in the union station this afternoon that all control of them was lost and the officers were obliged to simply stand by and aid women who had. unluskily gotten into the crash, or clear the tracks when a train approached. Even the approach of an engins did not seem to make the vast assemblage move and when the train bearing ex-President Harrison rolled into the depot at 4:30 o'clock the engineer had to stop several times in order to avoid running the crowd down.

Such a scene has never been witnessed in Albany before. Not only was the platform and yards crowded with people, but the roofs of the sheds were black with people, and when the train stopped men and boys climbed on top of the roofs of the car. Ex-President Harrison was applauded and cheered when, he stepped out upon the platform, and it was some minutes before he could speak. His words were only heard by the people within a radius of fifty feet, the vast crowd outside that circle being disaponinted. He touched briefly upon local issues and then nulogized ex-Vice-President Morton. He then referred to the hard times and said:
"The Democratis have proved themselves not good managers of the people's affairs and are afraid to face the neople, but the people are fixing that up all right, they are turning their backs to the Democratic party.

"The Democratic party is not experic party.

cratic party is not experi enced enough to manage the nation's affairs. They were out of control from 1861 and since then they were called upon to control; it was as if Christopher Columbus was called to command a transimbus was called to command a trans-tilantic steemer. While the Democratic ational administration has been putting self in control the people have been per-ding with the hard times." In conclu-ion, Mr. Harrison said: "I leave this assasse every man, committeeman or tilsen should do something to make he result so emphatic that these tinker-urs of the Democrats would be stopped nee and forever."

Great cheers greeted the conclusion of he speech and, after bowing to the crowd, he ex-President returnd to his car. The rain pulled out at 445 o'clock. SECRETARY CARLISLE ON THE DE-

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Secretary Carlisle today wrote the following important letter, bearing on the political and financial situation:

"Phineas Phices, Boston, Mass—Dear Sir: Your telegram inquiring whether or not certain statements made by Senator Frye in recent speeches are correct, was received this morning, and I embrace the very carliest opportunity to reply. As I understand the statements made by that Senator in an interview published about a year ago, and very recently in speeches delivered at Wilmington, Del., and at Melrose, and Malden, Mass., they are substantially as follows: First, that the amendment offered by Senator Sherman to the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill in Pebruary, 1833, contained a provision that all of our money must be kept at a parity with gold, or, as stated in the Wilmington speech, for the redemption of all money in gold. Second, that I approved this amendment when it was in consideration in the Senate Committee on Finance, but afterward caused its defeat in the in the Senate Committee on Finance afterward caused its defeat in the

to it. Third, that a fortnight after t I gave an interview in which I said will be obliged to redeem our money diver, and that this alleged declaration ught on a panic and caused millions millions of gold to be exported. There is scarcely the semblance of a in any of these statements except one that I personally appeared before Benate Committee on Finance when Sherman act was under consideration recommended its adoption, and if or on, the Secretary says: "If the same amendment had been important the appropriation bill it have been laber on than the act 1890, and a serious question are arisen whether it did not so take of the proceeds of the bonds at by it as to prohibit the rein stid of any obligations, exit of old United States notes. But, this might have been, the amendation or the same of the ordinal took provision of

and so informed the Committee on upon the subject."

Referring to the threat to defeat the Sundry Clivib Appropriation Bill in the House if the Shemian amendment was insisted upon, the Secretary says: "It was evident to the friends of the amendment in the House, that the passage of the bill could and would be defended, and an extra session of Congress rendered mosessary, unless they abandoned the amendment. I with absent from the city if the time, but a number of telegrams were sent to me by the supporters of the amendment, stating the situation, and insining that, under the circumstances, it would not only be useless to present it further, but that such a course would probably prevent the passage of other important measures. Before responding to any of these telegrams, I carefully examined the provisions of the resumption att and other statutes relating to financial matters, and came to the conclusion that complete authority already existed to issue and sell bonds, and to use the proceeds for redemption purposes, and thereupon I sent a telegram to a member of the Committee on appropriations, stating in substance that I did not consider the amendment of sufficient importance to Justify a contest, which might result in the defeat of the bill, and other necessary legislation. There was nothing in my telegram indicating disapproval of the amendment of sufficient importance to justify a consists, which might result in the defeist of the bill, and other necessary legislation. There was nothing in my telegram indicating disapproval of the amendment, and I never wrote a letter, as asserted by Mr. Frye, to anybody on the subject. In regiard to the third state-hent of Sensor Frye," adds the Secretary, "I desire to say most emphatically that I never gave out such an interview at any time or place."

In conclusion the Secretary says: "These two statements were intended to mean, and do in fact mean, precisely the same thing as evidence of my determination to redeem all United States notes and United States treasury notes of 1890 in gold. I have only to refer to facts which are well known that on the same morning the statement was published gold was being promptly paid to all who demanded it, although the reserve had failen below $100,000,000, and that this practice has been continued without interruption ever since. "On the 7th day of March, 1893, when I became Secretary of the Treasury, the gold reserve was $100,978,000, but it was afterward increased to $108,000,000 by exchanges of notes for gold, notwithstanding the fact that large amounts were being weekly withdrawn for export. The records of the department show that during the five months next preceding the date of my qualification as Secretary, the withdrawals of gold from the treasury for export amounted to $36,046,000, and that during the first five months after I took charge of the office the withdrawals for export amounted to $36,646,000, and that during the first five months after I took charge of the office the withdrawals for export amounted to $36,046,000, and that during the first five months after I took charge of the office the withdrawals for export amounted to $36,646,000, and that during the first five months after I took charge of the office the withdrawals for export amounted to $36,046,000, and that during the first five months after I took charge of the office the withdrawals for

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—In view of the report yesterdly regarding the attitude of the Strauss family, interest was excited this evening by a letter sent to ex-Mayor Grant by Isadore Strauss, in regard to the attitude of his brother, Nathan Strauss, on Grant's candidacy, in which Nathan Strauss is quoted as expressing a deep interest in the success of the present Tammany dandidace for Mayor.

Another letter, which may have considerable effect upon the Hebrew vote, is from a prominent Hebrew defending Col. Strong from the charge that he aided in the exclusion of a member of the Seligman family from the Union League Club.

A letter from Col. Asa Bird Gardiner, attacking Col. Strong, for his course as a member of a committee of the New York Insurance Company, and the charges and counter-charges respecting the use of Mr. Morton's hame as an officer of the Excise Reform Association, were among the other topics of conversation among politicians.

At the State Democracy headquanters it was announced that thirty-four members of the Tamimany organization in the Twenty-seventh Assembly District had resigned from that body and joined the Slate Democracy. Besting on State and city elections favors Mortom and Strong. On the Slack Exchange, $5000 to $3500 was wagered today that Strong would be elected Mayor, and as much more was offered, without fintking takers. One bet of $1000 to $400 was made on Morton for Governor, which is an increase of odds.

"But you say: 'The troops were sent by a Democratic President.' He was elected by the Democratic party, but svery act of his since he was elected has shown that instead of being imbued with Democratic principles he is imbued with the idea of taking care of the rich at the expense of the principles of self-zovernment 100 years before the President was heard of, and it will uphold them long after his name is forgotten and before the close of the nineteenth century the Stars and Stripes will wave over a people that will not have the clutch of a Federal court around their necks."

WEAT WEATHER FOR DEMOCRATS.
OHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Despite a pouring rain 6000 Democrats crowded into the Auditorium tonight to hear the leaders of their party discuss the political issues of the campaign. It was the largest gathering of the local Democracy which has been held during the campaign, and it was addressed by some of the most prominent of the party. Judge Lambert Tree presided, and in opening the meeting delivered an address which was greeted by great applause. Following Judge Tree came Corporation Consul Rubens of Chicago.

After Rubens had finished, Vice-President Stevenson was introduced, and was greeted with loud cheers. He announced that he brought to the Democrats of North Illinois cheering news of the strength of the party in the central and southern portions of the State, and good news from New York, where he confidently predicted that Hill would be successful. He declared the party had kept full faith with the people and fulfilled all its pledges to the letter. He declared the action of the Planters of Louisians in turning to the Republican party was because that party had given them abounty of $17,000,000 a year, and when the Democrats had discontinued the bounty they turned to the party was kept in power, and finished his speech amid tremendous applause.

I greatly rely also upon the evidence of the commercial travelers, who are journeying everywhere, and who are the best judges to be found, not only of the public sentiment, but of the actual condition of affairs, and they all report that business is steadily improving; that few workingmen are idle; that the manufacturers are susier, and that business everywhere is easier." He said in part: "Electricity is the greatest benefit ever given by God to man. When wrested by the genius of an Edison from nature, that marvelous power is put at the mercy and at the service of the country, but it is the most dangerous force when in the hands of an incompetent man. The competency of the Republican party with this electricity of prosperity was such that, as they touched a button, a new mill was started to be connected with the machinery, a new mine was opened to be connected with the machinery, but when the Republican skilled electrician was turned out of office, the Democratic electrician came in who did not understand the button, and put on 1000 volts, and 1000 volts is what kills a criminal at Sing-Sing, and what killed the industries of the country."

The release of Americans Browning, Taylor and Ingram, imprisoned in connection with the Mosquito trouble, has had a good effect in local foreign circles. People are gradually becoming convinced that the new Nicaragua regime in Bluefields and on the Mosquito Coast means order, morality and public economy. Personal protection and property guarantees have been extended to all, and wise laws are decreed for government municipalities.

A new line is being laid between the capital of the republic and the Atlantic coast, and both Bluefields and Greytown will soon be in direct cable communication, via Ban Juan dei Sur and Galveston, with the putside world. WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Among the members of the rebellious Mosquito government who were expelled from Nicaragua after the government had taken possession of the reservation were two American citizens, Lampton and Wilbanks, one of whom had been a member of Clarence's court, and the other a judge at Bluefields. These men went to Costa Rica and recently applied for permission to return to Bluefields to settle their business affairs. The request came to Dr. Guzman, the Nicaraguan Minister here, and by his advice it was granted.

In addition to this, as an evidence of magnamity of the Nicaraguan government toward the rebels, Lampton and Wilbanks have been informed that, if upon their return to Bluefield they conduct themselves as law-abiding citizens and refrain from interference with governmental affairs, they will be grasted full amnesty.

In Pimental, the government troops surprised Teodore Seminario and his followers. Sharp fighting ensued, in which the guerrillas were considerably worsted, leaving behind several dead and wounded, besides a number of prisoners. Teodore Seminario thimself only succeeded in getting away, owing to the swiftness of his horse. He succeeded in carrying off the body of his brother, Alipo, who was killed. In Cana the guerrillas are said to be cocupying the heights and mountain passes. Frye, the British Vice-Consul of Chicayalo, who manages the Cartavio estate, is one of Seminario's latest victima. The guerrilla leaders sent a force to the estate to demand 5000 scis. Vice-Consul frye promptly refused to pay it, and was taken into the presence of their chief. Seminario apologised for the unceremonious conduct of his followers, but insisted on the payment of 5000 scis, which the Vice-Consul was compelled to deliver.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Bishop Nicholas of the Greek church, the prelate who has the most extensive dioceas in the world, reaching from Maine to Alaska, and the Aleutian Islands, is expected to arrive in Chicago to say mass for the Csar on Sunday. Bishop Nicholas was appointed by the Csar two years ago to succeed Bishop Vladinir, who returned to Russia.

The bishop is on his way to Washington to take the oath of allegiance to the new Czar, and was invited by telegraph to hold services in Chicago on Sunday morning. His countrymen in Chicago are now basy draping the altar, candles, etc., of the LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Daily News correspondent in Paris says that if the news of the Czar's death had arrived early there would have been doubtless some spontaneous demonstration, as great crowds of workingmen were abroad placing wreaths on the graves in the cemeteries in observance of All Saints' day. Despite the fact that the event was expected, everybody seemed surprised and hundreds gathered in the Boulevard des Bategnolles to consult as to the best way of showing sympathy. It was agreed forthwith that they should procure flowers and convey them to the embassy. They found the shops in the vicinity sold out, and so the impulse died out.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—In recalling the circumstances of the Carr's accession to the throne the Standard says: "His life was one of long martyrdom which he bore with serene fortitude. That he kept his head clear and his judgment stable argues his uncommon strength of character. The price had to be paid for this stern exercise of will power. It may readily be believed that the malady to which he succumbed had its origin in his disappointments of heart and vexations of mind. We believe that the "France-Russian friendship will be little affected by his death. His son Nirholas must move for a considerable time in the grooves of policy worn by others."

The Chronicle says: "Death calls forth human and personal emotions before which all political and public considerations subside. For doing his utmost to preserve Eurofe from war, millions who detest his ideas and the nature of his rule, will respect his memory. We devoutly hope that his pacific views will be shared by his successor."

The Daily Graphic says: "On the whole the Czar's influence was healthy. He leaves Russia distinctly happies, stronger and more prospercus than in any other period of her history. He was faithful to his great trust as custodian of the European peace."

The Morning Post says: "We warmly admire his strict sense of duty and the heroke way in which he struggled against the rapidly increasing weakness. There is no reason to doubt that Nicholas will walk in the footsteps of his father, who commanded the gratitude of his subjects and the respect of Europe."

The Daily News is alone among the morning papers to expect with black borders, and among the afterhoon papers the Globe has made strelf most conspicuous by striking a decisional note, saying, among office tilings. Capt. Peterson, of the lumber achooner Fanny Dutard, believes that the missing ship Ivanhoe sank on the atternoon of September 30 off Cape Flattery. On the afternoon in question a heavy gale provailed. In company with the Fanny Dutard, but too far off for Capt. Peterson to make out her name, was a ship. She appeared to have a bad list to starboard, and was apparently hove to under her lower topsail. The men on board the Fanny Dutard could see that something was wrong with her, for her list was in the wrong direction.

At 1 o'clock, when the ship was about four miles distant and in plain sight, Capt. Peterson went below. Twenty minutes later his first mate called and said the ship had disappeared. Nothing was to be seen of the vessel. The ship had disappeared as if by magic, though none of the Dutard's crew saw her go down. The schooner remained in the vicinity for some time watching for any ship's boat or wreckage, but none could be seen, and the schooner proceeded on her voyage to Santa Barbara.

Not until his return to Port Blakely did Capt. Peterson learn that the Ivanhoe was missing. The Ivanhoe carried a crew of twenty, who all shipped from San Francisco. The passengers aboard the vessel were Frederick J. Grant, editor of the Sastie Post-intelligencer; Allen P. Folger, two ladies, Mrs. Mamie L. Bara and her friend, Mrs. Dr. Irene Mullen, and a stowaway, Edward Allardice, who had people in San Francisco.

presence of adulteration, and the shipments should be inspected also by officials of the country from which they come and certificates of their purity furnished.

In this connection the Secretary called attention to a report made to the Department of State some years ago by Consul G. W. Roosevelt at Bordeaux upon the adulteration of Bordeaux wines, in which he gave it as his judgment that 50 per cent. of the wines and brandles sent to the United States from this district were falsified, under labels of brands of high quality and adulterated with poisonous chemicals. The Secretary has reason to believe sified, under labels of brands of high quality and adulterated with poisonous chemicals. The Secretary has reason to believe that much of this sort of imposition is still thrust upon the American people. One instance has come under his observation of the large importations into the United States of a certain brand of Rhine wine which can be produced only in a small tract of Germany, but of which this country receives more than that particular tract is capable of producing. Germany, therefore, could find no cause for complaint if the United States should decide to enforce a strict inspection of their wines for sanitary reasons, and such a policy might prove an effective method of, retailation, one which would lead Germany to conclude that American meat was wholesome.

It may be recommended by Secretary Morton that the packers whose meat is inspected be taxed to defray the cost of inspection as liquor and cigar manufacturers are taxed. The government has been paying $250,000 a year for this service.

M'LACHLAN ON THE ISSUES OF THE DAY.

That was a straight-forward convincing speech which was made by Mr. McLachlan in Los Angeles on Thursday evening. The Republican candidate for Congress did not make any attempt to dodge any issues. He said that he was in favor of foreclosing the mortgages on the Central Paclfic Company if the debt was not paid, and that the government should take charge of the road, or any other roads in the same condition and try the experiment of operating them under proper management. On the subject deep-water harbor Mr. Mc Lachlan once more stated his position in a clear and emphatic manner, ob serving that he had openly favored San Pedro long before he thought of running for Congress, and in regard to his attitude toward the Southern Pacific Company, he showed that when he went into office as District Attorney he prosecuted and won suits to compel that company to pay about $50,000 back taxes, which debts have been left untouched and uncollected under the administration of the Demo crats and Populists.

Mr. McLachlan did not, howeve confine himself to local topics, as his opponent is inclined to do, but went into the important national question of the tariff, and gave a dozen good reasons why voters who are patriotic Americans should support the Consional candidates of a party that has done so much for the country and would have continued to do much had the people not, during a fit of mental aberration, placed the party of free trade in power.

Mr. McLachlan is making friends rapidly from day to day among think-ing men of all parties in this district, who cannot be deceived by the clap-trap appeals and thinly disguise misrepresentations of his antagonist. There is every indication that McLach lan will be our next Congressman by a very large majority.

SUPERIOR JUDGES.

The voters of this county can no afford not to have Judges York and Van Dyke returned to their present judicial positions. Judge York, the more recent acquisition to our judiclary, served two terms as Probat of the Territory of Washington, resigning his position to practice law in San Francisco. That he gave eminent satisfaction while upon the bench in that Territory is shown by the record he made there. As one of the Judges of the Superior Court of this county for the past ten months, he has proved upright, efficient and capable. His position upon the question of naturalization has attracted wide attention, and it is upon this question that the only opposition to his return to the bench has arisen The naturalization laws provide for the admission of aliens to citizenship after the requisite residence and the lapse of two years after taking their first papers, if the court finds, among other things, that they are "attache to the principles of the Constitution of the United States." - Judge York has given to this provision the common sense construction that if applicants have no knowledge of the principle of the Constitution they cannot be at tached to them. The ignorance of many of the applicants for citizenship discussing the proposed amendments to the city charter have about come would be amusing, if it were not so menacing to an intelligent support of to an understanding with the Council our republican form of government. Many applicants have not been abl a republic, and many have declared to say whether this is a monarchy or where no great obstacles are expected to intervene. The Times has already outlined the leading points of the proreland to be the government itself. Judge York is known to have been always patient with these applicants, examining them carefully, and, after satisfying himself that the questions rstood by them, and that they were wholly uninformed as to system of government, has kindly but firmly refused to admit them to ship. Some who have been re-have been admitted in other rts. In many instances the country se who have been rejected ho have themselves been admit citizenship through their supe intelligence have taken offense on g the fallure where it belo norance of the applicant, the judge at fault, and b to suppose, that a mayor at sent has little or no power. is far from being the case. That a strong, independent, and right-thinking man in the mayor's chair can do much to check extravagance and error in the management of the city's affairs has been fully shown on at least one occasion in Los Angeles. That was the time during which Henry Hazard was Mayor of Los Angeles city. Mr. Hazard is again a candidate for election to the same honorable office, and The Times firmly believes that he will receive sufficient votes from members of all political parties to place him The question of selecting an efficient man to preside over the affairs of the city is not a question of national politics, but of municipal business.

THE SUPREME ISSUE.

Great issues are at stake in the coming election. It is a matter of princioles rather than of men. The supreme ue is the question of protection free trade. This issue will be decided. a considerable extent, by the results of the pending Congressional election The return of a Democratic majority mean further haggling of the tariff, with its attendant disaster to the business and industrial interests of the whole country. The party in power has announce hat the existing tariff law is only the eginning of the free-trade regime, and Democratic victory in the Congres ional elections would be interpreted as an order from the people to go on with the work of destruction. On the other hand, the return of a Republican majority to the House will compel essation of the war against American ndustries. No material change in the tariff would be possible during President Cleveland's incumbency, hence the great commercial and industrial nterests of the nation could rest in the assurance that they would not be ome by threatened tariff changes.

Republican victory means stability, cratic victory means disorganization, uncertainty, and disaster. Let the voter, choose wisely as between these

Our Consul at Matamoras, in North ern Mexico, reports large exports of hides, mules and horses, also that "the prospects for greatly increased com-merce are very good." The McKinley tariff prevented such exports, and "un til thirty days ago not a live animal of any description had entered the United States from Mexico." As the American Economist points cut, of course our farmers will appreciate that his competition from Mexico, where horses and mules sell at $10 to $17 each, will not add to the value of tock raised on American farms. the same time, in order to add to the farmer's burden, the tariff on horse, mule or ox shoes is 27.16 per cent. higher than under the McKinley tariff.

The daily press of Norwich, England, recently said: "There is now a pros-pect that our trade with America will go up by leaps and bounds. The com-petition to be first in the field is imnense." The competition among Amer can manufacturers to get into the En glish market with their wares, as a become so lively as to excite gene comment. British trade with America may "go up by leaps and bounds," but the 'leaps and bounds will be mostly in the form of increased British exports to this country, to take the place of commodities heretofore produced in American manufactories, by American workmen

The American Consul at Marsellles France, states that the experts from ng the month of Se largest in the history of the consulate.' He further states that the increased exports "are not confined to article placed upon the free list of the Wilson the proportion is approxi mately the same for all merchandis leaving the district." Has anybody heard of any increase in our exports to Marseilles to offset this great in crease in foreign wares sent to this country to displace goods produced by American labor?

Budd & Co. have had a great deal to say about "economy" in the State government, but 'they have not yet seen fit to specify in what particular items of expense they would reduce the cost of government—whether in the cost of the schools, in the expense of the insane asylums, of the orphan asylums, of the prisons, of the reform schools, or other expenditures which have heretofore been regarded as nec essary. In this refusing to give plans and specifications of their proposed economies, Mr. Budd and his supporters betray their insincerity.

Evidence continues, to accumulat howing that our lower tariff is appre clated abroad, if not at home. American Consuls in Europe are sending re ports to the State Department "show ing the remarkable increase of exports to the United States from their consular districts since the new tariff bill became a law." But the enormous exports to the "markets of the world," which the free traders assured us we would be called upon to send out upor the lowering of our-tariff have not as vet materialized.

McKinley is not a brilliant orator, but there is no man before the people oday who attracts so large audience as he, or whose words receive so prompt and hearty indorsement. Maj. McKinley stands before the people as the foremost representative of a principle which is vitally essential to the prosperity of this nation, and the people know it.

Our more or less esteemed or

Hon. E. G. Waite, late Secretary of State, because it did not renominate him. The Democracy is pretty hard up for campaign material when it re-sorts to such pusillanimous insinua-tions as this. The Stockton Mail's next exploit will probably be an attempt to show that Gov. McKinley is in some way responsible for the death of the of low protection, but of no protection to American industries. Will they or will they not indorse the Demo policy of cutting the tariff down blcured? What interests the people is what the Democrats will do at the short session this winter, if the Con-gressional elections are favorable to and when the new Congress

The bank clearings of the country tell a striking story-a story which Democrats do not care to read. Re cently these clearances have been run ning something like 20 per cent. less than the clearings for two years ago, which was just before the Democrat came into power. This means that the average income of the capitalist, the employer and the wage-earner in the United States is fully one-fifth less than it was two years since.

The Democrats want the United States to open its ports to the free admission of goods made in countries where labor is far cheaper than in this country, and pay for such goods with agricultural surpluses or with gold. If here are a million men who are en in making the goods which are supplanted by the foreign ones, which are cheaper merely because the foreign workingmen get lower wages, then those million men are made idle

Let the issue be not confused - at east as far as the Congressional and legislative elections are concerned Your vote for Congressman will either aid or defeat a Republican majority in the coming Congress—a majority which shall be either for or against American industries; and the State legislators to be elected will aid in the election lefeat of a Republican Senator.

The Populists and a good many other cople outside the ranks of the Popu ists, who ought to know better, make great feature of absolutely free silver coinnge. If all the stories of humiliation and anxiety among pupils and parents in this city could be spread as prominently before the public as this case, it would doubtless be a great surprise to the average easy-going person, with whom the price of school-books is a matter of defificence. The actual money that it costs to purchase school-books is not very great, and yet, in a poor family, where the man is working for $1.50 or $2 per day (and then only occusionally.) and has a family of four or five children, who have to be supplied with books, it often becomes a serious and unsolvable question.

MAKING OUT A CASE.

New Evidence in the Roscoe Train-robbery.

The Remarkable Story Told by the Tramp Charles Etzler.

It is Beginning to Look Bad for Alva Johnson—The Mexican Dollars are Successfully Traced at Last.

The preliminary examination into the case against Alva Johnson, charged with being one of the principals in the famous Roscoe train-robbery on the night of February 14, last, was resumed in the Township Court yesterday, and will be taken up again today.

During the morning session several witnesses were examined for the prosecution on minor points, and expert testimony was introduced for the purpose of showing that

The most interesting part of the case was reserved for the afternoon session, when the prosecution introduced its new testimony through Charles Etzler, the man who was brought from Arikons, and to whom Johnson's second arrest is due.

Etzler, who is a bronsed and unkempticaling man shout 35 years of exceptioning.

was brought from Articos, and to whom o'domaod's second arrest is duscianted the same about 35 years of age, and islaime 60 he as his native fleats, told a remarkable story from the witness stand yesterday. He testified to the effect that for the past five years he has been working. Bakersfield as a teamster, but being of a convival nature, invariably spect all has had earned every time he went into that after one of those processed without a cent, and proceeded 60 outhern Penello crain to best fable were to Los Angeles. On the way, they and another man, who had travelled on top of and put off. After the trein had departed the unfortunate-trio, draw together possibly by a follow-feeling, joined forces and finally reached Ban Fernandes. Etaler and the estranger, who introduced himself as Jack Thompson, had become very that the former shandomed his original companion, and the train, in order to remain with Thompson, who suggested that the former shandomed his original companion, and the train, in order to remain with Thompson, who suggested that the former shandomed his original companion, and the train, in order to remain with Thompson, they suggested that the standard of the same of the best o allowed to go ummolested, because they had rigged up a chicken coop behind the wagon so as to make it look like a milk-wagon.

A short distance from the city Thompson got out, and it was arranged that Etxler's corral and then return with some money and a pistol to Thomoson's hiding miace. As Johnson only gave him $2.50. Thompson got mad and said that so small an amount was no good. They laid round all that night and the following day, and, after dark, slipped into town and called upon Johnson at the corral. It was then arranged by Thompson that Johnson should send him and Etzler to Arizona, and later on ship the Mexican dollars out to them. Accordingly they left next day for Yuma, and Thompson wrote to Johnson. Several letters were exchanged, but Thompson burned all except one, which Etzler stole from his pal's pocket. Although he could not read it himself he identified it readily. It was as follows:

"From Miss A. Hart,

"Your love,

"I send this tonight will send the other from Pasadena tomorrow if you have any luck with this package write to me and let me know I have sold out here in the citty my address is Alemeda N. 1023 I will write when I leave here if I know where to write."

This was received by Thompson at Tempe, Ariz., and with the receipt inclosed in it, he and Etzler went to Wells-Fargo's office next day, and were given a box, which when opened later on was found to contain $600 in Mexican dollars. Thompson, Etzler and a third tramp, named Peppers, took $200 each, and proceeded the work it off on Chinese in the vicinity at the rate of $5 cefts on the dollars. Etzler's conscience smote him, apparently, for one day he slipped off and hunted up the marshal, who refused to listen to his story, however. He then rejoined his companions, and as Thompson suggested another robbery, he feigned sickness, and attempted to get work on a ranch. As it happened, the old man from whom he asked employment had heard Thompson bragging, under the influence of drink, and ashe recognized Etzler, the latter was bediy sear

Returned to Her Home.

Tillie Darling, the little girl, who was reported lost or kidnaped, returned to her home yesterday.

She had not carried out her intention of going to San Bernardino, but was wandering around the city, looking for work. She had applied at No. 1634 Flower street, and Mrs. Gibson, though she could not employ her, took her in on account of the lateness of the hour, and kept her over night.

Yesterday she learned the child's identity, and returned her to her parents, who are overjoyed at her recovery.

HE great gains in the trade of this house the past few weeks demonstrates the fact that low prices, complete stocks and good help is the awakening power that brings the best results. The dress goods sales have been far ahead of anything we have ever done. Over 500 pieces of all-wool dress goods nave been pulled out of the shelves; and marked down to 75c a yard; the prices have been all the way from $1 to $2 a yard; it is the greatest bargain we have ever offered in the dress-goods line. They have been too expensive and the price alone has made them slow sellers. The reduced price has made the Dress Goods department the most active. Every yard of these goods will be closed at the reduced price. Plain and fancy styles; almost every color made will be found in this lot; a fine lot of evening shades as well, including light blue, pink, cream and light reds. There is a power in low prices; we are wielding that power in the Dress Goods department by increased sales. More than three hundred pieces of fine all-wool fancy Dress Goods for 50c a yard; they are all new and the choice things of the season in low price goods; then there is the great line of 50 and 54-inch all-wool goods that have already made a reputation for the Dress Goods department that will bring trade to the house for the next year to come; they are remarkable bargains; they are all new and choice. One of the big bargains in closing out a line of goods will be found in Children's Hats at 25c each; the price has been $1; we bought too many of a kind and rather than carry them over the extreme low price of 25c is made for this excellent $1 line of Hats; they are not shopworn. They are all good styles and are selling rapidly at the price. Pon pons, chenilles, filling, etching and embroidery silks down to half-price; half-price at the commencement of the busy season for this class of goods; all shades now in stock. We are largely increasing trade; we are selling goods cheap. If you need a cloak or a cape we can show you the largest assortment in the city of first-class new goods. Not a last season's fur cape in the house. Fur capes have a wider sweep this season; they are longer, and the prices we are selling them for is very much cheaper in proportion. It is the extreme low prices that has been the means of largely increasing the trade in every department in the house. There is no doubt about the prices in the underwear department being the lowest ever known. The greatest bargains we have ever offered is a large line of ladies' extra quality Jersey ribbed vests and pants for 50c each; they are as we state, the best values you ever saw for the money; they are remarkable for quality at the price.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The share speculation was characterized by a general strong line today, but the volume of business was light and there were periods of extra dullness, almong the causes which led to the strength of the manket was the firmness of the London and continental exchanges, showing that the death of the Czar was not looked upon as, likely to disturb the balance of the powers of Europe. Another influence was also at work. Wall street always discounts the future, and there has apparently been begun a discounting of the result of next Tuesday's election, which it seems to be taken for granted will be a general traderevival. Of the result in the appreciation of speculative values, the professional operators are disposed to place themselves in a position to take all the advantage. At the opening of business today a firm fone prevailed and prices advanced, the coal stocks leading in the improvements. There was but one notable exception. Sugar, which declined 1 per cent, but quickly recovered the loss. The railway list was well held, but, except for a few of the specialties, made no important movement until late in the afternoon, when a reaction set in, which was only of brief duration, and the greater portion of which was recovered in the final transactions. The market closed firm at a very general advance on the day of 1875 per cent. In St. Paul and Burilington. Speculation in the bond market was active several and Burilington.

EVENING. The location of the Republican Wigwam is now well known to the voters of the city, and in many instances to their wives and children also, for every night during the past week has seen a large crowd gathered at this now popular place for political speaking. The flattering attendance has been due undoubtedly, first, to the ance has been due undoubtedly, first, to the fact that the speakers were Republicans, who enunciated Republican doctrines, and, secondly, to the fact that comfortable accommodations had been provided, such as are not usually found in places where political orators are wont to talk. Then too, good music has been furnished each evening by the Wigwam Brass Rand and colored quartette, which has greatly added to the entertaining features of the place.

Last night the seats in the body of the tent were all occupied, and it was an interested audience of men and women that sat for two hours listening to the addresses made.

tent were all occupied, and it was an interested audience of men and women that sat for two hours listening to the addresses made.

Henry C. Carter introduced George Reed, Jr., as the first speaker of the evening. Mr. Reed said that the sentiment of the people this year was with the Republican party, and that victory was almost a matter of absolute certainty. The voters had been awakened to the need of a change in the methods of government inaugurated by the Democrats, and when they reached the polls they would make their strength felt in condemning the ruinous policy adopted. The prosperous days of Republican rule should be brought back, and the more reasonable and logical principles of Republicanism put into effect. Mr. Reed dwelt particularly upon the strength of the State and county tickets, and urged Republicans to stand by their colors on Tuesday.

Gen. A. B. Campbell is always sure of a hearty welcome when he appears upon the Republican platform, and last night the audience applauded vigorously as his name was announced by the chairman of the meeting. The general started in by saying that he was gled to see the young men taking up the battles of Republicanism. Old men became moss-backed in course of time, and prejudiced to a marked degree in party lines. "You know today that the Democrats are declaring that the deplorable condition of the industries of the country is due to Republican mismanagement," he said, after completing his introductory remarks. "We know that isn't so. Let us look at the figures for a moment and we will see that the statement is not true, We were 2803,000,000 richer at the end of the year 1862 than we were at the beginning. This we made under the hated McKinley bill, and yet these men will years the past twenty-five years steadily decreased the public debt. When the Democrate came into power they proceeded to increase the debt about $50,000,000. That around the past twenty-five years steadily decreased the public debt. When the Democrate came into power they proceeded to increase t what to do with a surplus. I think that we are sitting near the heart of a city that is the most prosperous one in the United Status today. You cannot appreciate the condition in other parts of the country. Why, back East they are having a hard time and I tell you back in Kansas this year after we get through with the Populists there wo not be enough of them left to wad a shorgun with (Lisughter and applause.) We hear a great deal about the boated millionaire. I'd like to know who wouldn't be a milltonaire if he could. I don't particularly envy these men, but if a man has got his money honestly I would like to be in his place if I could gain wealth in the same way. It is the widespread disruption of capital and labor that has produced discountent. Whenever capital goes out of employment the laborer suffers, and when the laborer stops work capital is injured. Capital and labor must go hand in hand, and when you have such legislation as will produce this result you have the kind most desired. That was the kind of legislation we had from 1885 to 1892, and that was produced under a high protective tariff, and the administration of the Republican party. (Applause.)

"When the industries were stricken down by Democratic rule 2,500,000 of workingmen were thrown out of employment, and they will remain unemployed until the old conditions are restored.

"What we need is to have capital employed in useful industries so that the manufacturers may be able to hire men and pay them good wages. The man who comes into a community and tries to array labor against capital and capital against labor is an enemy to the peace and order of society, and should be suppressed.

"Under present conditions capital gees into the hole and stops the hole up, and it wont come out until it can be profitably invested. Labor and capital yoked together form a team that will revive the paying industries of the country.

Almost a Riot. ATTEMPT TO BREAK UP A REPUBLI-CAN MEETING.

Good nature and presence of mind checked a small riot last night. The Republican campaign wagon, in charge of W. T. Williams and J. H. Krimminger, w. T. Williams and J. H. Main and First streets, and Mr. Williams began a speech to the assembled crowd. Immediately, as if by a prearranged plan, a gang of Democrats and Populists, led by a drunken Frenchman and a noisy Irlehman, began to cheer for "Jim" Budd and Webster, crats and Populists, led by a drunken Frenchman and a noisy Irishman, began to cheer for "Jim" Budd and Webster, while a rabble of drunken hoodlums kept up a continual droning cry of "Budd, Budd!" with an accompaniment of hoots and cat calls that completely drowned the voice of the speaker. He kept on with his arguments, however, though interrupted by questions and storms of cries of Budd, Burns, A.P.A., S.P., and lisr. Ex-Mayor Workman was particularly noticed crying, "How about Dan Burns?" Finally, Mr. Williams could no longer talk in the din of continual cries of "A.P.A.," "A.P.A.," "liar," "so he sat down to smoke a cigar. The crowd threatened to capture the wagon.

A drunken Frenchman was hoisted up to expound the principles of Democracy and free speech, but, after wandering from Jim Budd to Adam, was overcome by his patriotic emotion, and retired. "Merching Through Georgia" and Mr. "Merching Through Georgia" and Mr.

"Marching Through Georgia," and Mr.
Krimminger's proposal for three cheers for the flag only increased the tumult, and a plea for fair play and free speech was received with derisive yells. Then, Mr. Williams proposed a joint debate. Fitzgerald Murphy brought order out of the chaos by stepping upon the platform and asking for a hearing. He made a plea for fair play, and appealed to the crowd not to injure their cause by further acts of violence. He was frequently cheered through an impromptu speech, and was succeeded by Mr. Williams. Mr. Williams refuted the statements circulated that he sympathized with monopoly, plutocracy, and the A.P.A., and defended the right of self-defense—which is Republican protection. He made a strong speech on that line, and also discussed the other issues.

Mr. Murphy followed in a few remarks and the meeting adjourned amid three cheers for the Stars and Stripes.

Though the police were called out to suppress a riot, quiet was restored without violence, and the meeting ended in peace and good nature.

The Lockwood Case. MR. M'LIACHLIAN SAYS ABOUT THE MATTER.

McLachlan was the District Attorney of this county he requested him to issue a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Lockwood, and he refused to do so. Mr. McLachlan was seen by a Times reporter with reference to the alleged interview, and he said that he could not believe that Mr. Hazard ever said what he is reported to have said.

He says the facts are that Mr. Hazard did come to his office and request him 40 file a complaint against Mr. Lockwood, for embezzioment, Dut. 4r that time Mr. Lockwood was actugitive from justice, and could not be found, and Mr. McLachlan had then offered a reward of $200 for the apprehension of Mr. Lockwood. There were at that time two warrants in the hands of the officers for his arrest, and it was useless to put the $1ste to the expense of issuing more warrants as he could as well be apprehended on one warrant as a dozen. Mr. Lockwood was never apprehended, though Mr. McLachlan's reward of $200 was kept good during the whole time he was District Attorney.

Mr. McLachlan states that there was no disagreement between himself and Mr. Hazard at the time he called to shim to proceed against Mr. Lockwood—he was doing all in his power, as was also the Sheriff's office, to apprehend him at the time of the interview.

Mr. McLachlan says he cannot believe that Mr. Hazard used the language that the Herald puts in his mouth, as Mr. Hazard are thus in his mouth, as Mr. Hazard and the time to power to prevent the Pristrict Attorney has no power to prevent the right to so before any fusice of the peace and file an affidavit against Mr. Lockwood, and, if he stated facts sufficient to constitute a crime, the law would compel the justice to issue the warrant for the arrest of Mr. Lockwood, without even consulting the District Actorney, and that Mr. Hazard well knew that the District Alttorney could not have prevented the issuing of a warrant, if he had been so disposed.

A Boomerang.
DEMOCRATS WERE HIT
THEIR OWN MISSILES.

several weeks past the De paper has been going through the hair-tearing performance on the question of illegal registration, and Republicans were freely charged with trying to pave a way for the stuffing of the ballot-box on Tuesfreely charged with trying to pave a way for the stuffing of the ballot-box on Tuesday. Unfortunately, the cry acted as a boomerang, and instead of reflecting discredit upon the Republicans, it has cast about the Democratic camp somewhat of an unsavory odor. There were 152 registrations which were alleged to have been fraudulently sworn to, and reports were made upon these to the District Attorney's office. A hearing was had yesterday, and upon return being made of the citations quite a remarkable state of affairs was brought to light. No sooner was the matter called before Judges Shaw and McKinley, who sat in bank, than some four or five Democratic attorneys appeared and wanted to be entered as coursel for the defendants. The Judges refused to allow this, but consented to permit the attorneys to appear as friends of the court, and with this understanding the hearing was proceeded with.

torneys to appear as friends of the court, and with this understanding the hearing was proceeded with.

The remarkable part of the whole matter was that the attorneys stated that nearly all of those charged with having registered illegally were Democrats. This admission, in the face of the holy-horror ry raised by the Democrats that the Republicans have been doing the "dirty work," was indeed refreshing, and proved somewhat of a revelation to those who had gathered in the courtroom to hear the discussion. The Democratic lawyers contested each case closely, and showed by the vigor of their defense that they were desirous of holding on to all the Democratic voters they could, in 'order to make the big deficiency a trifle less next Tuesday.

Officer's testified in many instances that they had vestified in many instances that they had vest they had vest they had vest they had vest they had visited the places given by the persons registering, and that they had been unable to find the men. In other cases it was shown that the parties had merely changed their residence, and that nothing illegal had occurred in the manner of their registration. In still other cases the defendants flad not been found at all, consequently did not appear in answer to the clustions.

The judgment of the court was that the charges be dimissed; that the right to sequently did not appear in answer to the citations.

The judgment of the court was that the charges be dimissed; that the right to wote of those who had appeared and furnished satisfactory evidence be confirmed, and that the decision be without prejudice to the further rights of those who had not appeared.

It is very probable that the Democrats will look before they leap next time in the matter of making charges of fraudulent registration, else the stones thrown shatter their own glass houses.

The Case of Budd. UNABLE TO CLEAR HIMSELF, HE STANDS CONDEMNED. (San Francisco Post, Thursday:) The Los Angeles Times, the leading Independent Republican paper of Southern California, speaking of the charges against James H. Budd, says:

ent Republican paper of Southern California, speaking of the charges against James H. Budd, says:

"The Democratic press of the State is whining over the publication of the terrible charges against Mr. Budd, and claiming that it is a "malicious campaign siander," an 'unwadranted attack upon Mr. Budd's private reputation, etc., etc. It will be time enough to call the publication of these charges a slander when they have been disproved by counter-evidence—which they have not, up to the present time. As for Mr. Budd's 'private' reputation, it became, within certain limits, public property when he accepted the nomination for the high office of Governor. If the charges made against him are true, he jis utterly unit to fill the office. If they are false, it rests with him to disprove them as fully and quickly as possible. In any casa, the publication of the charges against him needs neither apology nor defense. If they are true, it is right that the people should know the truth. If they are not true, their publication affords Mr. Budd an opportunity to prove their falsity."

This sums up the case in a nutshell. Where, when or by whom the charges were published cuts no figure in the matter. It is the certified complaint in the action of Neff vs. Budd that the Democratic nomines for Governor is called upon to answer the complaint or explain. He did not answer the complaint or explain. He did not answer the complaint or explain the letters when they were offered in court and when he had a chance to do so. He has now but a few days within while to satisfy the people of California that he is innocent of their property. If he does not clear himself he cannot expect to receive the vote of a single respectable citizen next Tuesday.

For the sake of the goad name of the aged parents of their property. If he does not clear himself he cannot expect to receive the vote of a single respectable citizen next Tuesday.

For the sake of the good name of the State, for the sake of the Democratic party, which has failen into the hands of the sand lot, and for the sake of even the human nature represented by 'James H. Budd, we have hoped that this affair might in some way be cleared up. The thought that a moral leper, such as the record in this Neff case, if left undisputed, proves Budd to be, could reach the high honor of the leadership of a great party, is a reflection upon this Christian State and people. Nancy Neff, sleeping in her dishonored and forgotten grave, and James H. Budd, her betrayer, receiving the plaudits of cheering thousands, the bouquets of virtuous ladies and the general praise and admiration of mankind, presents a ploture calculated to make every decent man hide his face in chance.

But Budd evidently dees not intend to answer this complaint, nor explain these letters. He purposes going to the ballottoxes with the changes hanging over him. He says he has been "alandered," but decollines to explain how he can be sandered by the publication of his own letters. At all events the issue is being squarely made. The question before the people with reference to the gubernatorial candidates is certain to be whether they desire at the head of the State government a man who betrays innocent and confiding girls, over whom he is appointed guardian, and who defrauds ignorant people of their property, or whether they desire a man of character, ability and probity, against whom no charge of dishonesty has ever been brought. By declining to meet the charges against him, Budd himself will make this issue.

Want it Straight. POPULISTS DISSATISFIED WITH THE

FUSION POLICY. Up around Palmdale and in other parts of the Antelope Valley region there are a number of Populists who are not exactly posted on the complexion of the candidates their leaders have put up to secure their votes. Many of them are Populists through and through, and declare that they will not vote for fusion "productions." One of these was heard to make inquiry recently as to whether Bower and other county nominees had been indorsed by the Democrats. He was surprised to learn that such was the fact, not having read the daily papers containing the account of the doings of the convention, and he stated that there were a number of his friends who were in the same state of mind. The following is quoted from the report of the Democratic convention held on September 12, as it appeared in The Times, for the benefit of those who are not informed on the subject already:
"None of the delegates appeared to have confidence in the success of their party this full; and, in consequence, they were ever ready to follow a leader wherever he might take them, be it into the Populist camp or any other foreign place. As a Up around Palmdale and in other parts that the nomination of Bower was the way to do this.

"The ballot decided the contest in favor of Bower by a vote of 352 to 292."

It may be added that Dummer Klah Trask, the Democrat of the "solid six" school board notoriety, is engaged in endeavoring to bring Bower, the former partner of drunken Hugh C. Grant, into prominence as a candidate, but he has apparently been able to do but little for the reason that Maj. Donnell, the Republican lawyer who was nominated by the almost unanimous vote of his party, stands so far ahead of his obscura opponent in the race for the office of District Attorney.

Rev. S. W. Hawkins and Jacob Soares also spoke, and the meeting closed with three cheers and a tiger for James McLatchian.

A Silly Charge.

Two years ago the charge of being a foreigner was made against James McLachlan, and his reply to the charge, as then made, is worth quoting. He said: "It is true that I was born amid the rugged hills of old Scotland, in a humble cottage, of humble Christian parents; but across the threshold of that humble home shame or dishonor never once entered." No man controls the place of his birth, and it matters nothing to anybody but himself where it was that his eyes first beheld sunlight.

A PIOUS FRAUD.

REV. JOSIAH CROUCH OPERAT ING IN OBANGE COUNTY.

The Fellow's Unsavory Record Shown Up—Charges Now Pend-ing Against Him in Los Angeles.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 2.—(Special Correspondence.) The little community of Trabuco, about twenty miles southeast of Santa Ana, has just discovered that an impostor and hypocrite of the vilest charac-ter has been imposing upon the religious people of that neighborhood, in the per-son of "Rev." Josha Crouch, whose rec-ord in Washington and Oregón, and later most every offense against morality and decency.

About four or five weeks ago Crouch came to Santa Ama and represented himself as a Baptist preacher in search of a field where he could find opportunity to exercise his gifts. Having the appearance of honesty, and seaming to be all that he chaimed, he was directed to the Trabuco settlement as a place where people would be glad to hear him preach; and a field where his efforts would be appreciated and rewarded.

With letters introducing him to some of the leading people in the community, he started out, leaving behind a most urgent and sanctimonious request for the prayers of his too-trustful friends in behalf of his labors.

As the residents of Trabuco have heard and sanctimonious request for the prayers of his too-trustful friends in behalf of his labors.

As the residents of Trabuco have heard very little preaching for years past, though many of them are Christian people and members of the Baptist and Methodist churches here, they gladly received "Brother" Crouch, and gave tim a most cordial and hospitable welcome. The news was spread throughout the community, and on the following Sunday the school-house was filled to hear Crouch preach. Possessing a fair education and an olly tongue, he made a good impression, and, during the meetings that followed, won the confidence of the people, and was soon in a fair way to accomplish much devility had not his true character been discovered and his influence been destroyed by the record of his misdoings elsewhere. It is said that certain actions had already caused considerable comment by some parties, as being singular and out of place in a man of good judgment, claiming to be a minister and a godly man, but most of the people were undoubtedly greatly surprised and shocked to learn that one in whom shey had placed their confidence was proved to be a scoundrel and a fraud.

Shortly affer his departure from Santa Ana, the friends who had been imposed upon by him here, received intimations from a reliable source that all was not right with Crouch, and they were warned to have nothing to do with him. Being responsible for his going to Trabuco, and feeling under obligations to their friends in that neighborhood to expose the impostor, if such indeed he proved to be, they at once inquired into fils record in other places, and though some little time was required, owing to distance and other difficulties, the result was truly astonishing, both as to quantity and quality of the linformation, which was all of the same character from every place where any difficulties, the result was truly astonishing, both as to quantity and quality of the information, which was all of the aame character from every place where anything could be learned of Crouch.

The first intimation of crockedness came from Los Angeles, where the report that Crouch had been fined in the City Police Court led to an investigation of the record, and it was found that he had been arrested for stealing a thermometer, and when arraigned confessed his guilt and paid a fine of $20 for the offense. His former employers in that city were sought and made various complaints of irregularities in his conduct as an employee, one of them asserting that he had sufficient cause to prosecute Crouch, whose whereabouts he had been trying to learn, but could not. At one of the places where he worked in the city, stories where related, connecting him in an extremely unenviable way with one of the sirens of Alameda street.

Such facts being learned of him in Los Angeles, it was thought advisable to extend the inquiry to his former home in Washington, and the following newspaper clippings were forwarded, together with a letter, indowing them fully.

The Prineville, Or., Review furnishes this item: "About six weeks ago one Rev. Joulah Crouch appeared in Prineville, and a few weeks ago he was elected pastor of the First Baptist Church. He being a minister and a smooth talker, it was easy for him to gain the confidence of his congregation and to borrow $52 to send to his mother. But he used the money for another purpose—to pay his way out of the county without arranging to settle with his creditors."

This was republished in a paper at Willipa, Wash, with the following comment:

"This man Crouch is well known the county without arranging to settle with the county without arranging to settle with the county without arranging to settle with

This was republished in a paper at Willipa, Wash., with the following comment:

"This man Crouch is well known throughout Pacific county, many people knowing him to their cost, and many more to their extreme mortification. Last summer his wife was drowned in the river near this place from a boat, in which herself, husband and her little two-year-old girl were pleasure riding. Many people at the time believed him responsible for the death of his wife, but at an examination ordered by Prosecuting Attorney Eghert and a subsequent Coroner's inquest held by Justice Kent, no evidence was adduced sumicient to incriminate him, and the matter gradually subsided until all at once it was ascertained that he was at the time of the drowning the husband of another living wife in the East, whom he had cruelly deserted and left in destitute circumstances. This revived respicton against him in regard to the death of his wife No. 2, and the members of the Baptist Church in this place, South Bend and Oysterville, who had stood his friends as long as they believed blim innocent, began earnexity to try to secure evidence to convict him of the crime of tiggent. As this evidence was all in the East, they were forced to proceed slowly, but in the meanting they took measures to keep thomselves posted as to his whereabour until the above Rum appeared to the was at the last revents.

With this purpose in view, a few days ago, swo of the leading members of the denkimination in this vicinity, who had interested themselves in securing the evidence, went, out to the Trabuco cettlement and met Crouch, who acknowledged that he had already received notice from officials of the First Bagitist Church of Los Angeles, which he recently joined, that serious charges were pentiling against him, which ought to be straightened up before he proceeded further, and that a letter of the seme obstracter had been written him by the general arissionary for Southern California, who warned him that he must not continue to pose as a Baptist minister without expecting a public exposure of his record.

To these notices, however, he had given no heed, but promised that he would go at once to Los Angeles and meet the charges before the church. With the understanding that he would submit to the action of the church and that his return to this county depended upon its decision, the parties consented to permit him to go, without making the matter public, hua sumed him that should he attempt to resume the work and remain in this county a complete exposure would be made. He left Trabuco the next day, presumably for Los Angeles, and after an absence of two or three days returned, passing through Santa Ana today (Friday.) As soon as it was known that he intended to return and try to induce his victims to endure his further presence, steps were taken to fully inform them of his true character. It is probable he intends to stay there till atternext Sunday, but it remains to be seen how long he will be permitted to inflict his unwelcome presence upon the people, who are now thoroughly disgusted with the life of the parties in the control of the parties in his unwelcome presence upon the people, who are now thoroughly disgusted with him. In a note to one of the parties in this city whom he promised to see on his return from Los Angeles, but was doubtless ashamed to face, he states that he will likely leave Trabuco and vicinity. No doubt he will, and very soon.

MUSICAL MENTION.

MUSICAL MENTION.

The first of the series of the Fuller-Blair concerts took-place in the Blanchard-Fitzgerald Hall last evening, and was attended by a fair audience. These concerts have been much talked of, and the expectations that had been raised concerning them were fully realized by last evening's performance. The music rendered was all of a high order, yet of the modern rather than the old school, the numbers by Benjamin Godard being especially fine. Miss Padgham, who was to have been the soloist for the evening, was prevented, by illness, from being present, but her place was most acceptably filled by Miss Grace Sargeant. Miss Sargeant is the possessor of a fine contraito voice, whose tones are remarkably pure and true. She was received very heartily. The programme was as follows:

No final and definite conclusion has yet been reached by Secretary Carlisle, but 'he indications are that a decision will be announced tonion-row. The probabilities are the decision will make a new precedent for the Treasury Department, which heretofore has held that an employee of Howard's class, ir order to come within the exceptions of the alien contract labor law, must, accompany their employers to the United States.

The Treasury Department and Secretary Carlisle would have welcomed a trial of the case in the courts on fits merits, but, as Judge Lacoube's decision repetered this impossible, the Secretary, it is thought here, will be inclined now to make a new precedent and to permit Howard to remain in this country.

for the transportation of oil. He would not object to having a pipe line, but he believed it should be permitted only under proper conditions.

In explanation, Mr. Dockweller said the size of the pipe cannot now be stated, but it will be sufficient to carry the present production, and with provision for an increase. In regard to the transportation rates, it will be difficult to say at present. Very likely, however, the company would be willing to have the rates fixed by the Council.

Mr. Forman reinarked that it would be asking too much of the company to state the fates of the tariff before the cost of the undertaking is known. He is interested in quite a large tract of land on the Bast Side, and it is asked that the franchise be granted for that locality, because of prospective oil development there. The franchise will not prevent other parties from coming into the field also.

Mr. Silent opposed granting a fifty-year franchise will not prevent to have the route on Wabash avenue instead of Magnolia avenue.

It was argued by Mr. Pomeroy that the franchise would be exclusive, because of the small territory in which the storage of oil is permitted.

A. A. Sumner was heard in regard to the petition from the Metropolitan Oil Storage Company, of which he is servicery; fit said the route for which a pipe-line franchise is asked by his company is largely along ungraded streets, which would be improved rather than injured on account of the work. Again, there are but few water and gas mains of such a tranchise would result in taking a great deal of heavy traffic from the hought the prive for piping oil should not be fixed, as the competition would be improved rather than in the way on such streets. The pipes would be of substantial castiron construction. He hought the prive for piping oil should not be fixed, as the competition would being it to as low a point as would pay.

C. F. A. Lisst spoke in regard to the application presented by himself and bring it to as low a point as would pay.

C. F. A. List spoke in regard to the application presented by himself and others. He thought that oil storage should flot be confined to one locality. The rates would adjust themselves after the lines get in operation, and make it not advisable to arbitrarily fix them.

After considering the presentation of claims by the various gentlemen interested, the board took the matter under advisement, with the understanding that the City Attorney is to draft forms of franchises, as asked for in the three petitions, excluding from each of them such portions of it as are not intended to be used framediately by the parties applying for them. It is expected that the life of each franchise will be limited to twenty-dive years.

railway line on what is know as Kuhrts street to the East Side Park and on to the city limits, was considered, and deneral Manager Clark and H. Bach, together with other property-owners, were heard in reference to the matter.

The property-owners still hold to the position formerly taken by them that the franchies singlid not be granted—or, in other words, that it should not be advertised as asked for—unless it be so worded as to provide that the line be in actual operation within eight months after the date of its being granted; that a fifteen-minute service be given; and that the line be operated with a double track.

Mr. Clark maintained the position which has heretofore been assumed by his company. He argued that, in the first place, vantage of the company to give a shorter service.

In regard to the length of time necessary to elapse before the line can be completed and jn operation, Mr. Clark stated that the materials are in the city ready for use, and men can be put at the work as soon as certain alterations now in progress on the Mapie-avenue line can be completed. There are only a few hundred september within two blocks of the Kuhrtsstreet line east of the river, and the present prospects do not warrant giving a less than Efteen-minute service, especially for the cars to run to the end of the line and come back again.

It is the intention of the company, he said to soon electrize the Downey-avenue cable system, and when that is done it is expected the Downey-avenue cars when on Main street across Alameda street, and around northerly to San, Fernando street, following the present line along Downey avenue to Pritchard street, fo Main street (formerly Kuhrts) and return. When this is accompilished the cars will follow the belt line in both directions, and the people on the Kuhrts street, or, more properly speaking, the Main-street line, will have the same service as the people on the Downey-avenue line.

Mr. Bach suggested that the company will be much surprised to find the amount of travel to East Side Park, and Mr. Clark said that of course if the traffic requires it, more cars will be put on.

After further discussing the matter, the property-owners finally consented that for the present there should be a fittenniante service. The line is to be mostly double-tracked, and at least, as far as East Side Park, is to be in actual operation within eight months from the time the franchise is granted.

The company and the property-owners having consented to such an arrangement, the board will probably recommend to the Council that the franchise be advervisions.

BOILER INSPECTOR.

The board next considered the proposed ordinance creating the office of boiler inspector and defining his duties, which ordinance was presented by Chairman Strohm to the Council and referred to the board. The ordinance was amended in one or two slight particulars. Besides other provisions which have before been published it is made the duty of the inspector to make one inspection annually of each boiler in the city and charge a fee of $5 therefor.

The ordinance was amended by adding to it a provision making it the duty of the same officer to inspect all elevators running a vertical distance of more than one story, once each quarter. He is to collect a fee of $1 for each inspection. All fees collected by him are to be turned over to the City Treasurer, and he is to be paid a regular salary. The City Attorney was requested to draw the ordinance in proper form in that manner and present to the Council.

The ordinance which falled to receive the Mayer's signature, and which was drawn to regulate the operation of steambollers and engines for pumping plants, but, on account of being vetoed, was referred to the board, was amended to a form in which it is again to be presented to the Council.

The ordinance as amended still provides there shall be no boiler for such purpose operated in such a way as to send forth smoke that shall be offensive to residents of the neighborhood where the boiler is located. No such boiler shall be operated from the Fire Commission, but the requirement that the application for the same shall be presented two weeks before it is granted is stricken out. The requirement that the pump or drilling plant shall not be operated during the night is also stricken out.

fore Judge York as the result of a so what peculiar elopement.

It was shown by the testimony that some fourteen years ago Richard E. and Lina Schurian married, and that the latter's younger sister lived with them. The young couple lived happly together, and their union, in due course of time, was blessed with three children. Meanwhile, Mrs. Schurian's sister grew from childhood into budding womanhood, and almost before the elder woman realized it, the younger was sought in marriage. Joseph Schmidt, a quiet and respectable youth, finally induced her to become his wife, and on June 4, 1893, they were married.

Four days later Mrs. Schmidt returned to her sister's home and announced that as she did not love Joseph she could not live with him any longer. Mrs. Schurian was naturally surprised at this turn of affairs, but her surprise gave place to horror when the bride of four days admitted that she loved her brother-in-law, Richard E. Schurian. Even then, she had no idea, apparently, that her sister Yonka's return, however, a bitter awakening came to Mrs. Schurian, for she found that Richard E. Schurian, and John Schmidt was granted a decree divorcing her from Richard E. Schurian, and John Schmidt was granted a decree divorcing her from Richard E. Schurian, and John Schmidt was granted a decree divorcing him from Yonka W. Schmidt, and the deserted wife and husband left the courtroom together, free to console each other by following the example of their recreant spouses, as would be a fitting sequel to the story of their domestic thelicities.

SANFORD MURDER TRIAL. The trial of the Sanford murder case

SANFORD MURDER TRIAL.

The trial of the Sanford murder case occupied the attention of Judge Smith and a jury all day in Department One yesterday, some fitteen witnesses being examined on behalf of the defendant; but the matter was not concluded and will probably consume the greater part of today's session of the court.

A number of witnesses were called for the purpose of showing that the defendant Joe Sanford had a good reputation as a peaceable and law-abiding man in the community in which he lived, while that of his victim Valdes was bad, he being of a quarrelsome and mean disposition.

The defendant, and two of his brothers who saw the fatal affray between Valdez and Joe Sanford from a distance, stated that the two men were riding in opposite directions, and on opposite sides of the fence, which divided their pastures, and that when Valdez saw the defendant he rode straight toward him and applied foul epithets to him. Both men dismounted when close together, and Valdez ran round his horse and struck Sanford with a whip on the head. That the defendant tried to defend himself, but being pressed by his assailant, shot him twice in order to prevent being killed himself.

Upon complaint of Mrs. H. A. Watson, a twelve-year-old colored girl named Cora Ramsey was duly adjudged incorrigible and committed to the State school at Whittier by Judge York yesterday morning.

When the damage suit of Francis G. Ryan et al. vs. the Southern California Rallway Company was called for trial in Department Five yesterday, it was stipulated by counsel that the case should be submitted to Judge Shaw for decision upon the evidence and briefs already in, and it was so ordered.

Judge Shaw yesterday rendered his decision in the case of Carter vs the Los Angeles National Bank et al., an action to recover money due upon certain prumissory notes, ordering finding and judgment for the plaintiff, in accordance with a lengthy written opinion filed therein.

In the United States District Court yesterday morning the trial of John Rayburn, Robert C. Helichew and Charles Fickett, who were charged with having ditched and overturned Southern Pacific box-cars at Mission Junction on the evening of July 10 last, for the purpose of retarding the passage of the United States mails, was concluded, the jury, after a deliberation of but fifteen minutes, returning a verdict of acquittal.

Crops and Markets.

The weather during the past week has seen generally quite favorable to the arming industry in Southern Calffornia. The local markets have been rather insteady, with the exception of dairy projects and eggs, which have been firm. The market for dried fruit continues much bly raisins,) and a good demand at g prices. The distrust that is felt g dealers in regard to the growers packers of raisins strictly adhering to the schedule of prices agreed upon by the combine, causes them to fear a break-up of that organization, to be fol-lowed by liberal consignments. As long as this uncertainty exists they will only created such a demand for cars to ship uils for the present, to a certain are being neglected," and he the opinion that as soon as matcera settle down to a normal condition, and people get in their stocks of canned goods, with the advent of cold weather, which will naturally follow the present warm, spell, and the 'time for the consu f shoh fruit draws near, they will have lively demand for dried fruit.

Northern exchanges are salling very er prices, which they believe will be btained in the near future. The California Fruit Exchange of San Francisco, in a recent bulletin, mention that many buyers are inquiring as to the keeping qualities of California dried fruit. On this subject, the Examiner nukes the following remarks:

makes the following remarks:

"From the best information we can gather, we feel warranted in saying that California dried, or more properly cured, fruit, when properly handled and kept in our dry climate, will remain in perfect condition as long as most food products in a dry state, or from one to three years. As a matter of precaution, it is well to submit all fruit, befose packing, to a bath of boiling sait water (one-quarter pound best Liverpool sait to a gallon of water) kept boiling during the process of dipping. The fruit should then be allowed to dry on a platform, or in half-filled boxes, for twelve or twenty-four hours before packing it either in sacks or boxes.

kept in a pile for two or three weeks where it is frequently shoveled over to make it of uniform dryness, is first run through a coarse wire drum, with sufficient wind to remove all dirt, dust and other matter liable to accumulate during the process of drying, and then dipped and packed, as above described, it will retain its good color and flavor, go on the market as a superior erticle of dried fruit, and very soon gain the confidence doubt will be entertained as to its keeping qualities. Of course, it must be packed and kept so that it cannot be affected by insects from the outside, which are liable to lay their eggs in protected places, and, with the advent of warm weather, work their way into the fruit, as they now do into sea biscuit and other

The dispatch gives an interesting account of the manner in which this fruit is sold by auction and closes with the following encouraging remarks:

"Care in the preparation of 'ruit for market has won for the Californians a distinction above growers of similar fruit in other parts of the United States. The demand for California fruit in New York is rapidly increasing. One of the largest dealers in green fruit in the United States estimates that next year more than 1500 carloads will be sold here. There are now in cold storage here quantities of winter pears from the Pacific Slope, orincipally of winter Nellis and Eastern Beaurre. They will last until spring."

The address, which was delivered recently before the State Board of Trade by Horace Davis on the wheat industry and which was referred to at some length in the Times, has been the subject of much comment throughout the State. It seems to be generally admitted that the day of profitable wheat production for export is past and that the energy and judgment of our producers will have to be directed to the growing of some other more profitable crop.

Don't Cultivate too Much Land. On a very large farm there is more or less land that its owner would really be better without, though in most cases it would be difficult to convince him of the fact. Sometimes it is said that farmers about concentrate their efforts on a few acros, and let the rest lie in pasture and produce what it will with little or no exponse. The less productive portions of the farm swall its acreage, and probably tive their powers a comfortable feeling but it is not so much of a satisfaction when he finds that he could have more money if owning fewer acres.

its ability to produce. Farmers set the limit far too low. Only market gardeners and small fruit-growers have any adequate idea of the amo or even twenty acres are mentioned, the onfined in so small an area will do well if he can get a living. And by the usual es this view is cor rect. The farmer who limits his to so small an area as this generally does more. In most cases the small farmer he who owns a much larger area. Yet it is over his few acres rather than his apt to chafe. He complains that he has not land enough to do anything with, and if he cannot buy more will try to rer or work some neighbor's land on shares. Those who have land of their own, how ever small its area, can usually make more by giving their entire attention to it than by working land of others. Merely going to and from work in the same neighborhood takes so much time that under chance for any profit from land so worked But the greater loss is from the distrac-tion it requires of the farmer working other land from his own place. It is rule fully as applicable to farming as to anything else, that close attention to bus ness is essential to success. The farmer not only receives the most profit now, bu is laying the foundation for greater profits in after years. This is the chief advantage from owning land instead of merely renting it. If a farmer plants no trees, puts up no new buildings and makes land no better than he found it, he had better rent than own the land he cultivates. He can get it cheaper than the cost of interest, taxes and general depre-ciation of value of the land thus managed. If there be no direct profit in the year's cropping above the expense of working his land and living, whoever owns a farm can generally contrive to make some imif he has true business thrift, he will man age to do this by increasing its productive capacity rather than by making it more ornamental. For those who can afford it making a place beautiful, even at the ex pense of productiveness, is well enough; but the great majority of farmers, and es-pecially of small farmers, need every centhey can make. If they get money for im it is a great mistake to let it go in ways

Even for mere ornament, the improv ments that add to productiveness are far better than those which have beauty only as their object. The underdraining of we the destruction of weeds are points which than fine, large houses and other buildings These latter are all well enough, but their place is secondary. Give us the welldrained, fertile farm, and the buildings can be made from it. But with a farm the reverse of all this, it may not furnish enough profit to keep fine buildings in de ent repair.

The great difficulty in the management of large farms is that the owner can personally do only so small a proportion of what needs to be done, and much of which cannot be hired. It is almost an impossibility for farmers, even with abundance money, to improve several hundred acres and bring them to the highest state of cultivation. In most cases it is the money is in debt. The annual or semi-annual interest is a constant drain, and, added to the expense of managing the land and the cost of living of the farmer and his family, it leaves very little for improvement On large farms, where most of the work has to be hired, there is an almost unavoidable tendency to poorer farming, which grows worse until dividing the land into smaller tracts gives opportunity for a greater number of owners to assist in im-

The Outlook for Prunes.

There is a foolish fear among some prune-growers that this crop may be so large that the culture of the fruit will be overdone and unprofitable. Not one person in ten has ever tasted a California prune; not one in a hundred has anything like an adequate supply. The idea of over-production is absurd. Ten times the present quantity could find a market. It is ent quantity could find a market. It is expected, of course, that the consumption will gradually increase with the produc-tion. Prune orchards may not always yield their owners $200 or $500 profit to the acre, as now, but the profits may go down much below that, and still be much more than comes from the cultivation of the staples, wheat and corn, which are the largest sources of wealth in the United States. Owing to the nature of our soil and the character of our climate, we have little rivalry to fear with the Mediterranean prune, formerly the only supply of the world. The foreign prune is not only deficient in sugar, but, owing to the necessary use of artificial heat. smoky odor and decidedly decayed flavor, while ours is sweet, fragrant and wholesome, because sunshine does the whole work. There is no suspicion of pestilence or plagues in the California product. The Mediterranean country has been on the line of march of all the great spidemics the line of march of all the great epidemics for a thousand years. Every package of fruit from there seems like a Pandora's box, full of possible evils. These facts indicate a great and permanent trade in the prune here. Undoubtedly new varieties will appear that will be superior to that on which our trade was built up. Even now we have five or six for which especial merits are claimed. Economy in process will also become an important factor in the future.

tor in the future. Why not Raise Tea. (California Fruitgrower:) For the year ending with last June we imported 93,513,-549 pounds of tea valued at 314,143,107. Here is certainly a big field to be covered by American industry, provided the climatic and labor conditions are favorable. It is well known that tea-planting on a small scale was undertaken in the Carolinas before the, war, but never attained commercial importance. Within the past few year's other small plantings have been made and some interesting data have been made and some interesting data have been gathered regarding the crop by Prof. Massey of the North Carolina Experiment Station. Tea which sold at 80 cents a pound has been grown in small quantity in some parts of North Carolina, and some produced at Summerville, S. C., is said to have sold at $1 per pound. It is alleged that the cost of production, so far as yet determined, is about 25 cents per pound; but it is believed that on a large scale the cost would be materially reduced. Prof. Massey is reported to have said that the best tea he ever tasted was grown in determined, is about 25 cents per pound; but it is believed that on a large scale the cost would be materially reduced. Prof. Massey is reported to have said that the best tea he ever tasted was grown in the Carolinas, and he believes it will eventually prove a profitable crop there. Several months ago the California Fruit-grower called attention to the statement of Mr. Jackson, an experienced tea-grower of India, then on a tour of inspection in the South, that in his opinion tea could be profitably produced in the United States. A Southern paper now states that Mr. Jackson, who is engaged in tea culture to a limited extent in South Carolina, asserts that with the negro labor of the South tea can be as cheaply produced there as in China. While we have grave doubts on this subject, yet improved appliances may enable planters to produce this crop with a better profit than cotton-growing has yielded in recent years, or is likely to yield in years to come.

yielded in recent years, or is likely to yield in years to come.

But if tea can be successfully grown in South Carolina why not in California? Have any conclusive experiments been tried in that direction in this State? If not, would it not be well for our experiment station to make tests along this line? We have apparently every advantage possessed in South Carolina in a climatic sense, and as for labor, many of the Chinese we have here know something of tea sessed in South Carolina in a climatic sense, and as for labor, many of the Chinese we have here know something of teaculture and work as cheaply as the negroes of the South. In yiew of the great need of diversified culture in California, it might be wise to explore the field for teaculture; for every pound of it produced here at a profit would be a distinct gain. At present prices of wheat and tea in San Francisco, it requires 100 pounds of the former to buy three pounds of the latter. It might be that to cultivate and prepare one acre of tea in California, would cost considerably less than to produce thirty-three acres of wheat, especially when original cost of land is taken into account. In any event it appears that there may be a field for a new enterprise among us, even if it should prove a somewhat limited one. Let us experiment.

State Fruit-growers' Convention.

The official call for the eighteenth State Fruit-growers' Convention, Just issued, names Sacramento as the place, and November 20, 21, 22 and 23 as the time of meeting. Fruit-growers, shippers, packers, nurserymen and others interested in horticulture and kindred pursuits are invited to be present at said convention and participate in its deliberations. The Southern Pacific Company will allow return tickets at reduced rates from all points on their lipse to Sacramento, provided, a receipt for the ticket purchased be taken at the starting point. This will be countersigned by the secretary at the convention, and will entitle the holder to a return ticket (allowing forty-eight hours after adjournment to start for home) at one-third the regular rate. Following is the official programme: TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 20. The convention will assemble in the Assembly Chamber of the State Capitol at 9:20 a.m.

Report on the French Prune Crop. (California Fruit-grower;) M. Dadelszen lordeau, writes to the New York Frui Exchange, under date of Septem

the inspection of growers' warehouses shows that over one-third of the crop has already been sold. This bears out my statement that the total output would be under 55,000,000 pounds, and I feel sure that, notwistanding the many statements to the contrary, my estimate will prove to be correct; 50-55 fruit to the half liplo is quitte scarce, and hardly obtainable now at any price, except with equal quantities of 60-85 and 70-75 fruit. This assortment has advanced fully 10 per cent. since the opening, and will maintain its value; 120-125 fruit is not abundant, and the bulk of the crop consists of the four sizes. Owing to the eraggerated crop reports made by many shippers, American orders have not been general, and this coinciding, with large country markets has caused a decline in the value of the four sizes equal to the advance in large fruit. Buyers, however, appear now attracted, and it is thought that prices have reached bottom values. The dearth of 70-75 fruit, with the relative searcity of 80-85 fruit in Turkish prunes, has caused Germany to place here many orders for these sizes that are usually executed in Budapest, and this circumstance will influence the value of our four sizes. Add to this that at such hitherto unheard-of prices our home consumption will be greatly increased, and at will be admitted that the position of the article is very sound. Walnuts in this district are a short croo. and unheard-of prices our creased, and it will be admitted that the position of the article is very sound. Walnuts in this district are a short crop, and being also late prices will not be fixed until after October 15."

The turkey hen as a brood mother can not always be easily managed. She is an to have very decided ideas of her own as to how her flock should be cared for, and she is quite likely to rear them well. Tur-keys are not so often troubled with vermin as hens, and less trouble from this source may be anticipated. The number is largely increased by flatching the first laying or litter of eggs under a hen. Those points must be borne in mind: Watch for lice, feed carefully, mostly bread and milk, while young; keep from the wet grass and rain until well started, say four or five weeks, or until the red spots be gin to show on their heads.

Old Hens and Pullets. It has been claimed, says the Poultry Keeper, that the hen lays the largest number of eggs during her first year, and that she is more profitable then than at any other time. This view is a mistaken one. The first point to be settled is, which is the first year of the hen? If she is hatched in the spring she will not lay until fall, and if she then lays a large number of eggs by the end of the next year she has really been supported two years and laid during one year only. In other words, she had to be raised from chickenhood to maturity before she began to lay at all. Her next or third year will be more profitable, for the reason that the first cost of raising her will be proportionally and the older she be-

Houses for Young Chicks. Houses for Young Chicks.

(Country Gentleman:) It will pay every armer to make permanent houses for rearing young chickens rather than to depend in temporary coops. I have rarely known more than half the chickens hatched to live to grow to maturity under the common management which confines the hens no coops with the chickens allowed to run out, and it is troublesome and laborious to care for them. The causes of loss are many. Gapes in many cases kill half of hem, then rats, skunks, hawks and other tepredators come is for a share. The hens till some which get into the wrong coops.

if the house is made as it should be; and with proper attention to cleanliness, lice can be kept down, and if proper food is given at regular hours you can have the satisfaction of seeing a brood of smooth, healthy chickens which grow rapidly and nearly all of which live.

I do not let the chickens out of their house and yard at all until they are two months old. I have made the mistake several times of letting them out too soon, and have met with loss on account of it. This spring I put ninety-three chicks with four mothers in a room eight by twelve feet over my hoghouse, as my regular chicken-houses were full. I kept them here until a month old without losing one, and I never saw a more thritty lot of chicks. When the hot June weather came on, and the mercury was at 90 to 96 deg. every day, my wife thought they must suffer from heat; and aithough there was not a droopping chicken among them, I moved them June 20 to roomy coops with gravel floof to one part and board floor to the rest. The result was droopy chickens and quite a per cent. of loss.

My plan is to raise the chicks with natural mothers, whether hatched by hens or an incubator. We make the house to raise them in five feet wide with the low part of the roof to the south. We put a board floor made tight and of planed lumber eighteen inches above the ground and the roof at the lowest part three feet above the floor. This is to insure dryness, and we raise it eighteen inches so that there will be no place for minks, skunks or other enemies to harbor under it. At the south side we have a sash with six lights which occupies about half the front, but made so that it can be swung up and fastened under the roof, out of the way in hot weather, and the fields kept in by wire netting nailed back of the sash. Sometimes these houses are made seven feet wide with a two-foot passage at the north side to pass along and communicate with each room, and the feeding is done from the passage. At the south side we have a yard five feet square which we cover with clean gr out the rooms we set a light square box, under the door and sweep the droppings directly into it. A ladder made of a board a foot wide with cleats nalled on it enables the hens and chicks easily to pass up and down from the graveled run to the feedroom. These rooms should be swept clean every day or two and sprinkted with sawdust, and the feeding should be done in light, flat boxes, movable, so as to be easily taken out when the floor is to be swept.

A Big Chicken Project.

A Big Chicken Project.

It seems that those who assumed that the purchase of the Walker ranch, near Santa Rosa, was for the purposes of a beet-sugar factory were mistaken. It is now aumounced that the purchasers are not the firm of Spreckels Bros., but Rudolph Spreckels and F. F. Follis, and that their plan is not to make sugar, but to raise chickens on a large scale. The last report is that suitable houses will be built upon 100 acres set apart for that purpose, and all the most approved modern methods for successfully conducting the business will be employed. A Chronicle repose, and all the most approved modern methods for successfully conducting the business will be employed. A Chronicle reporter, who has talked with Messra. Spreckels and Folls, writes as follows about the proposed venture:

Herstofore no particular methods have been employed in grading the products for the common market, and no special effort has been made to build up the industry in California. Not more than two-fifths of the poultry and eggs used in this State are produced here, so California still depends on large impositions to supply the home demand. Californians are often spoken of as a people who will not wait long for returns. But there is no other legitimate business which yields so quick returns as the raising of fowls and eggs. So important is this industry, and so great is the need of awakening interest in it, that Gov. Markham devoted a paragraph to it in his last blennial message. In 1893 there were over seven hundred and fifty thousand pounds of poultry and more than forty million eggs brought into California. These should have been raised here, and they could drave been produced at a saving of over $500,000 to this State. It is true that there are many small poultry-raisers in California, but the fact remains that fowls are brought here in carried to the interior cities do not get all their supplies from the surrounding country. In climate California is the ideal place for poultry-raising, as there are no great extremes of cold, while feed is as cheap as it is in any part of the East.

A new method of treating cream, previous to churning, is announced by R. M. W. Massalaky of Lemberg. Pure water at 140 deg. to 158 deg. Fah. is added to the cream in any proportion from equal quantities of each to as much as five or six of water to one of cream. After having been carefully stirred the warm mixture is separated and the cream is churned in the usual manner. The churning is done in about twenty minutes. The object aimed at is to lessen the amount of the solids other than butter-fat contained in the cream. This, in Dr. Massalaky's opinion, will increase the keeping qualities of the butter.

(Green's Fruit-grower:) When a cow is choked by a piece of root fast in the throat, it is often relieved by working the obstacle up or down by the hand. If this is not effective a little oil may be poured down the thoat; this generally helps to relieve the cow. If this is not sufficient, the next device is to put a round stick in the cow's mouth, across the teeth, and fasten it there by a tie. The cow in efforts to relieve herself will often loosen the fragment. For a last resort, take a block of wood and hold it against the throat, where the obstacle is, and with a wooden mallet strike a sharp blow so as to crush the root. This, if done smartly, relieves the animal without any serious injury. Relief may be given instantly by cutting up and down, never across, the gullet over the obstacle, and removing it with the fingers. The wound is then closed by a few surgeon's stitches, each of which is tied singly in a bow knot, that the slik threads may be drawn out when the wound is healed.

More About Feeding Wheat to Farm

Stock.

(The Pacific Rural Press:) We have endeavored to keep our wheat-growing readers posted upon the progress made in using the surplus wheat product as food for farm stock. The matter has been presented from the scientific and from the practical points of view, and it has been shown that it is a growing practice and and important one. The latest contribution to the understanding of the matter is a report of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, which we just receive from F. D. Coburn, the secretary. It is shown that wheat feeding has increased marvelously in Kansas, that while in 1893 over 4,000,000 bushels will be fed, or about 16 per cent. of the crop. In 1894 over 8,500,000 bushels will be fed, or about 30 per cent. of the crop. Thus in a single year the amount of wheat fed to stock has about doubled.

Mr. Coburn conducted his inquiry by issuing a schedule of questions to Kansas farmers in the different counties, and secured useful answers from over 400 practical feeders.

Waste in feeding wheat.—When fed whole (perhaps more especially to hogs) 25 per cent. of it passes the animals unasticated, and hence, undigested and unassimilated—a shameful waste. The average of the estimates made by eighty-one correspondents in twenty counties is that about 30 per cent. is voided without mastication; twelve correspondents, representing flye countles, put it at 50 per cent. or above, and a few others named a higher figure, while forty, reporting from twelve counties, average at 10 per cent.

Wheat compared with corn.—Three-fourths of those reporting, representing fifty counties, state that, pound for pound, wheat is superior to corn for fattening hogs (even with the one-fourth masticated) by 7 to 25 per cent.; the average of these indicating a superiority over corn of 16 per cent, while the average of the other one-fourth of the reports, representing twenty-six counties, indicate that it was considered of less worth than corn by 12 per cent.

An average of wheat land values, as stated from all the counties, is 319-35 per acre, and these valuations range from $50 in Wya. lott, $45 in Atchison and Brown, $46 in Allen. Jefferson, Johnson and Miami, and $37 in Cowley, to 36 in Chey-

For the first time in forty years, the for the first time is lotty years, the census reveals a tendency toward larger farms. The average farm in 1890 contained three acres more than at the opening of the decade, or an increase in size of 2.2 per cent. The Atlantic States all show a continuation of the previous trend toward smaller farms. In the Souther Coast States, the average farm contain twenty-three fewer acres, a decrease in size of nearly 15 per cent., while in the South Central region the farms show a decrease of 4 per cent.

The London Grocers' Report of September 18, in reviewing the wheat market says:

"In several instances recently the prices for new wheat were quoted at 16s to 19s per quarter (eight bushels) in Lincoinshire and in Yorkshire, and this was, of course, assumed to be tainted grain; but the extraordinary fact appears that the general average for the whole of the country the other week was actually only 21s 7d, (65 cents a bushel), a decline of is on the week, and just 5s per quarter worse than in the corresponding week of last year. It is over two hundred years since anything like so low a price has been quoted for wheat in England — putting aside, of course, the low averages of the weeks immediately preceding."

THE BUILDING BOOM.

The remarkable activity in building operations, which has been noted from week to week still keeps up. Statistifs furnished by the Inspector of Buildings show that the value of the building permits issued in the city for the nine months ending with October was over $1,900,000. At this rate the total for the year will be over $2,500,000, which is certainly an excellent showing for such hard times, and one which it is doubtful whether any American city of the same size can equal.

SMALL HOMES.

One of the most encouraging facts in

One of the most encouraging facts in connection with the building activity which prevails, is that a great majority of this prevails, is that a great majority of this $2,000,000 worth of improvements is in the shape of small residences, which have been built for immediate occupancy by the owners—clerks, mechanics and others who are earning moderate wages and are enabled to acquire homes on the installment plan, owing to the easy terms which are now offered by owners of property and builders. A particularly large number of this class of buildings have gone up during the past year in that section of the city between Main street and Central avenue, south of Third.

Fig. 7.

FLATS.

Apartment houses or "flats" continue to go up in various parts of the city and so far they appear to rent readily. It is a question, however, whether the demand for such dwellings would be great if there were enough houses to be had. A San Francisco paper has the following to say on the subject of apartment houses and large business blocks:

"The proposed building of a large apartment house on the northwest corner of California and Jones streets has occasioned considerable comment. Brokers, as a fule, are inclined to deprecate the construction of this class of houses, averring that they tend to retard the growth of the inhabitable area of the city and induce people to adopt a plan of living which is fallacious in its economy.

"They state that in cities like New York, Chicago, London and Paris, where the population is greatly in excess of the available space for homes within a moderate-sized radius of the center of the city, the system through necessity has become popular.

"In San Francisco, however, the conditions are dissimilar. Here there is ample room. The confines of the city are not contracted, and the supply of desirable residence sites in all sections at reasonable prices is unbounded.

"The same argument in measure is applied to the huge office buildings in the down-town quarfer. While it cannot be denied that tall business blocks are imposing and lend an aspect of grandeur to the city, brokers freely assert that it would expand the business center and cause property values to enhance concentrically."

The price paid, being the best offer that could be had for the half-interest, was $7000, and of that only $1000 is paid cash down. This is at the rate of only $300 a foot, with a large and expensive brick block thrown in, for corner property within a quarter of a mile of the geographical center of the built about that time in what is known as Sonoratown, and they all present a more or less desolate appearance at present. This is about the only section of the city which has not shared in the advance of the past couple of years. It is an open question as to what the fifture of this part of Los Angeles will be. Being conveniently located toward the Southern Pacific freight depot, it might be supposed that wholesale business would drift in that direction, but it does not appear to do so, tending more toward North Main street, south of the Plaza and South Los Angeles street. One of the leading causes that has tended to keep this section from making progress is the uncertainty as to titles, which are mixed up in a manner peculiar to our easy-going Mexican friends, so that it would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to unravel them. Had it not been for this fact, Sonoratown, with its picturesque tumble-down adobes, would doubtless have disappeared altogether during the improvement era which followed the boom. The obstacle presented by this section is also one of the causes of the pronounced southerly trend of business which has been with nessed during the past few years. One of the greatest helps to this section would be the opening of North Broadway by a tunnel.

PROGRESS AND LETHARGY.

PROGRESS AND LETHARGY.

This brings, us to a consideration of the fact which has been so frequently insisted upon in these columns, namely that it is improvements, or in other words enterprise, that decides the growth of a city and the direction of that growth. A good example of this fact is furnished by two of the leading streets of Los Angeles. Main street and Broadway. The former started out with all the prestige which sitaches to the leading thoroughtare of a town. Most of the prominent business houses were on Main street, between Temple street and the Plaza. Broadway—then known as Fort street—was an insignificant residence thoroughfare, and any talk of rivalry with the main artery of Los Angeles would have been ridiculed. But Broadway property was owned by enterprising men with modern ideas, while too much of the Main-street frontage was in the hands of easy-going old-timers, who had been raised into affluence much as a pavingstone is lifted by mushrooms, and who were averse to anything that savored of modern push and energy. Broadway represents the young school of Angelenos, and Main street the old. Of late the Main-street people have been making some attempt to help themselves by arranging an association, but, however successful they may be, they will never be able to make up for the opportunities which they-have lost. In the race for supremacy between streets and sections of a city it is not only necessary to get in front, but to keep there, as some other tellow is always trying to crowd in ahead.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

The oil business has been lively of those persons who are doing all they can to block the further development of what promises to be a most important industry. The Times has previously hinted that persons who are interested in other oil fields which cannot hope to compete with the local product may possibly have some connection with this attempt to shut down the wells in the city. This view of the case is followed out by a writer in Land and Water, who says:

"But few of our citizens have any appreciation of the importance to the city of our local oil field. Heretofore the oil fields in other portions of Southern California have only had a partial development. It has been known for years that there were paying wells at Santa Paula. Newhall, Puente and other points, but the business was in the hands of men whese interests were better served by keeping the price of oil up by the discouragement of the opening of new wells. either to control the local market or avoid a conflict with the Standard oil monopoly. This is shown in the fact that even now the output of the wells is being bought up at a set price to prevent the extension of the field—the most potent influence up to the city Council. In the country where each lot costs more than does a section in the mountains this is impossible. It is this fact which makes the local field such a thorn in the fiels of the monopolists, and gives promise that the time is near when our oil interests will be relieved from the monopoly which has heretofore prevented development. The indications are that soon the policy of keeping the output down will have to be abandoned, and when this is done, capital will rush in to share in the profits which will flow from the establishment of refineries and the supplying of the markets of the world. In a measure the same conditions, of cheap fuel are here which onerated to build up Pittaburgh as a manufactuming center, and rich bodies of iron ore lig

Mr. Patton's Visit-Other Notes, Political and Otherwise.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 2.-(Special Correspondence.) George S. Patton came down Thursday evening and occupied an hour of the steeping at the operahouse rallying the flagging energies of his followers, and explaining how thoroughly and irrevocably he is wedded to San Pedro for the harbor site. He was given a moderate sized audience, but awakened no enthuthe harbor site. He was given a moderate sized audience, but awakened no enthusiasm. It is Patton's misfortune, not that he is for San Pedro, but that he has all during the campaign had such an offensive way of thrusting the fact in the face of the public that he has lost votes among the adherents of San Pedro itself. The Democratic campaign here has reached virility, and the vote will not go far toward staying the widespread landslide against the party.

At Capistrano last Tuesday evening after the Democratic speakers had talked for a time, the Populist talent was trotted out and the audience treated to a course of Domo-Pop argument. Not only have joint meetings been held by the local leaders of these two parties, but the Democratic press of the county is now coming out strongly in favor of the Populist candidate for the Assembly. The Blade this evening says: "Democrats should vote for E. D. Cooke." If the Blade says vote for Mr. Cooke, the people generally, in this portion of the county at least, will be inclined to the belief that he will not be "in it" when the ballots are counted. Mr. Cooke says he will vote for Thomas V. Cater for United States Senator, and yet the Democratic Blade says, Democrats should vote for Cooke. Mr. Cooke also says he is a protectionist—as much a one as he ever was, and yet he expects the Democratic vote.

C. S. McKelvey, the Republican candidate for the Assembly, has pledged himself to the support of George C. Perkins for United States Senator, and to the principles of protection.

The first named gentleman has already, it is claimed, succeeded in securing the signatures of enough owners along the cast side of Garey avenue, between Second street and Holt avenue, to control a majority of the frontage, as required by law, and it is also understood that Mr. Brady is having fair success in doing the same on Holt avenue from the intersection of Garey to Palomares street east. A NEW EXCURSION LINE.

A NEW EXCURSION LINE. A NEW EXCURSION LINE.

It has now reached that point that if a line of radiroad does not operate an excursion service, with line conductors, to go all the way through, to look after the comforts and convenience of passengers, and to point out the various places of interest, etc., they are practically not in competition for the tourist travel. The Burlington system realising this, has decided to begin about December 1, to run both east and west-bound, personally-conducted, weekly excursions between the Pacific Coast and the East, leaving Los Angeles every Wednesday via Southern Pacific, Rio Grande Western, Denver and Rio Grande, to connect with the Burlington line at Denver. It only remains for the details to be agreed upon, when the official announcement will be made. The Burlington closed their ticket office in Los Angeles the ist of last June, but Mr. Duzan, their representative in Southern California, has been their ficket omes in Duzan, their repre-sentative in Southern California, has been instructed to secure an office in a good location and increase his office force suf-ficiently to handle the business in an effi-cient manner. This means the expendi-ture of considerable money in this city and Southern California, in the way of saland Southern California, in the way of salaries and expenses to traveling men employed to work the business, and will contribute to the prosperity of this section.
By the new departure of the Burlington the entire State of California will be benefited, as the army of Burlington agents in the East will be supplied with literature pertaining to the resources and advantages of California. The Burlington was the pioneer line in the excursion business during the boom, and handled every week hundreds of people each way between Califorria and the East, and why they were discontinued has been a surprise to many.

A MYSTERIOUS TUNNEL.

A Peculiar Piece of Work in the San Fernando Valley.

A peculiar piece of work which is being prosecuted vigorously was discovered yes-terday a few miles up the San Fernando Valley.

Beginning at a point on the City Water started, running westerly from there. The bottom of the beginning of the tunnel seems to be exactly on a level with the bottom of the company's conduit. About bottom of the company's conduit. About 200 men are engaged on the work, and the tunnel from that point has been bored into the hills for some 200 or more feet. The tunnel is being bored in the same shape as the tunnels in the outfall sewer, it being the shape of an egg standing on its larger end.

Westerly from this point shafts are being sunk, the evident purpose being to prosecute the boring from them also. By boring the tunnel for a distance of not far from 400 feet westerly, the western face of the line of hills may be reached, and water may then be run through into the Cahuenga Valley.

What the tunnel is intended to be used for is a matter of speculation. Mr. Mulholland, superintendent of the City Water Company, and Mr. Hawgood, engineer for the same company, wefe found at the place, and from the appearance of things it was inferred they were connected with the work.

BEAT HIS WIFE.

Offense.

Mark Bruce was tried before Justic Austin yesterday on the charge of bat tery preferred against him by his wife Mary Bruce. She testified that they were no longer living together, and that when no longer living together, and that when he came to her room to see her she shut him out. She said that when he threatened her she opened her door, whereupon he cursed her and struck her repeatedly. Then she had him arrested.

Joseph J. Lang, a lodger, testified that he heard Bruce come into the house, and that he heard sounds of screaming and blows from the woman's room. The defendant testified that he went to the house to see his children, and afterward returned to make some arrangements with his wife in regard to them. Upon his return he found one of his wife's male friends with her, and, after ordering him out, quarreled with her and struck her several times.

He made a strong plea to the Judge for leniency, but was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 or be imprisoned twenty-five days.

Gave Bail.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Joseph W. Reinhart, ex-president and ex-receiver of the Santa Fe Railroad, who was indicted by the Federal grand jury of the charge of paying rebates to shippers, gave bail in the United States District Court today. Mr. Reinhart's bond was for $10,000 and it was signed by William J. Watson. Reinhart said the indictment charges him with the commission of acts about which he knows nothing. At the time of the alleged payment of rebates to Isaac Thompson the Kansas City shipper, Mr. Reinhart said he was not in the State of Illinois and had no knowledge of the transaction if it ever occurred.

After speaking of the routes over which he traveled, he refers to the impressions of his trip and what he saw on it made on him. They are largely in the form of comparisons between the condition of things in the East and of similar things exist in Southern California. The cupied, in all, thirty-two days. He as they exist in Southern California.

"The strongest impression made on my mind was the depression among Western farmers, caused by the unprecedented drought, and the unusual accompaniment of the lowest-recorded prices for wool and grain. Wool, 20 cents in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and wheat 50 to 53 cents per bushel in Minneapolis and Chicago. It costs the Dakota farmer from 10 to 13 cents per bushel for freight to the great market centers. But the elevator system (which California ought to have had long ago) saves the farmers the expense of sacks, which is a large item with us."

Speaking of the drought in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, Mr. Poindexter says:

which is a large item with us. Speaking of the drought in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, Mr. Poindexter says:

In Washington, Pa., the water supply used by the City Water Company gave out, and the company closed its plant, leaving 10,000 people dependent on wells and cisterns. Water-carts were improvised, and men hauled the precious fluid from wherever they could obtain it in the country, and sold it to the people in the town."

"Another impression," he says, "worth recording is the widespread and intelligent information about California, which I found wherever I went. In every town there were men and women who had been to our State, and among all I met I did not find one who was not ready to speak in glowing terms of their pleasure in visiting the Pacific Coast."

Speaking of Minneapolis, he describes the unfortunate effects produced by the boom of some years ago, and then goes on to speak of the great metropolis of the West—Chicago. "The impression," he says, "that Chicago gives a visitor is one of unbounded energy and unquenchable enterprise. No undertaking seems too great or too expensive for Chicago, if it seems necessary, or promises good financial returns. The two great works now attracting attention are the immense ship canal and the Mississippi River, and the revention of the tracks of every rallway entering the city to a level with tracks of the Illinois Central. This last great work has been ordered, and the estimate of the expense to the rallroad companies is 330,000,000."

The letter concludes with an appeal to the inhabitants of Los Angeles to advocate and make such improvements as will place our city on that high progressive plane which her geographical position and resources entitle her to occupy, and closed by saying: "I wish all our business men
